U.S. Signs Security Pact With So. Korea

Dulles, Rhee Warn Against Aggression

Terms Allow Troops To Stay In Korea Pending Conference

SEOUL, Saturday, Aug. 8 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and President Syngman Rhee today initialed a mutual security pact and warned the Communists the United Nations Command would meet any new attack on South Korea in violation of the armistice.

The agreement, which provides for basing U. S. troops in South Korea, was signed at 10 a.m. (8 p.m. Friday, EST).

Will Walk Out

A joint statement said the United States and South Korea would walk out of a postwar political conference after 90 days if they decide "the conference is being exploited" by the Reds.

The statement declared "we will then consult further regarding the attainment of a unified, free and independent Korea."

It was the first time Rhee has publicly stated he would be content merely to talk in the event the political conference failed. He repeatedly has threatened that South Korea will fight on alone, if necessary, to attain unification of this war-torn peninsula.

The statement declared Rhee, Dulles and their advisers had a full exchange of views on the subject of unification which they hope "will establish a preparatory foundation for coordinated efforts at the political conference."

Must Be Approved

The 78-year-old South Korean President had demanded the mutual security pact as a condition for going along with the Korean armistice, which he bitterly opposed. President Eisenhower in June promised Rhee such a treaty, which must be approved by the U. S. Senate.

The Rhee-Dulles statement said the United States recognizes the right of sovereignty of the Republic of Korea to "deal with its problems." But it added that South Korea has agreed "to take no unilateral action to unite Korea by military means for the agreed duration of the political conference."

At the same time, Dulles and Rhee warned the Communists that an "unprovoked armed attack" against South Korea in violation of the armistice would be met by the U. N. Command, including South Korean forces.

Liberated GI's Say Some Stayed Behind

Few Choose To Stay, Others Jailed

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea, Saturday, Aug. 8 (AP) — Some U. S. prisoners are not coming back from behind the Bamboo Curtain, at least not now. A few chose to stay. Unnumbered others are jailed on trumped-up charges.

That was the grim word yesterday from the 81 Americans, some of them thin and disheveled, who came back from North Korean prison stockades on the third day of the exchange of prisoners under the armistice.

Others told of a captured U. S. officer who was forced to give lectures saying he dropped germ bombs. This is a favorite Red propaganda theme.

Americans Among Group

It was the first time that there had been reports that some Americans might refuse repatriation. The repatriates listed several American and one British prisoner who apparently had swallowed Red indoctrination and decided to stay.

Peiping radio said yesterday it would give an accounting to the United Nations Command of the total number "as soon as possible."

Under armistice terms, such prisoners must be brought to the Panmunjom neutral zone where U. N. teams will be allowed to try to make them change their minds.

The report that some U. S. prisoners—with liberty in sight—were being given prison terms for "instigating against peace" was not new.

Earlier repatriates had said some high officers were being given sentences. Now, it appears, the "trials" have been extended to enlisted men.

The first report of Americans and other Allied soldiers refusing repatriation came shortly after the repatriates began hopping from the Communist trucks that had brought them down from Kaesong, the Red armistice base town six miles west of Panmunjom.

Some Left Behind

Pvt. Steve Glowacki of Brooklyn, N. Y., said that at Pyoktong, the camp near the Manchurian border, seven Americans and one Briton stayed behind and "were having a party when we left."

Pfc. Charles Bryant Jr. of Cincinnati, said three Americans went back voluntarily just before the trucks began rumbling out of Pyoktong.

Cpl. James Davis of Bradshaw, Md., mentioned at least three others who were expected to remain behind.

HEADS VFW—Wayne E. Richards, Arkansas City, Kansas, yesterday was elected as commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the close of the 54th national encampment at Milwaukee.

Six Ministers Meet To Create U. S. Of Europe

BADEN BADEN, Germany, Aug. 7 (AP)—Foreign ministers of six continental nations, meeting here to examine the project for creating a united states of Europe, tentatively decided tonight to drive toward a final agreement on a constitution in September.

In the first session of a 2-day conference, they discussed a proposal to create a commission of experts to iron out their last disputes on the constitution.

West German diplomatic officials said Dutch Foreign Minister J. Beyen suggested the commission meet in the Hague in September and that his proposal is expected to win final approval tomorrow.

Ministers of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg met for three hours to take a hard look at the 116-article draft constitution to weld their 150 million people into a confederation.

German authorities said they discussed the division of powers between the proposed confederation and the member states, whether to erect a one-chamber parliament and whether to select the parliament by direct vote or by the parliaments of the member states.

The ministers also will grapple with the many problems involving Germany's present and future roles in the East-West struggle.

Dr. Konrad Adenauer, West Germany's Chancellor and foreign minister, declared these talks will give "new impetus" to the plan for confederation.

Arrives In Paris

PARIS, Aug. 7 (AP) — Harold Talbott, U. S. Secretary of the Air Force, arrived from Washington today on an inspection tour of airbases in Western Europe, especially in France and Western Germany.

Say Agent OK'd Trip By Haymes

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7 (AP)—Dick Haymes' attorney tonight said the crooner followed Rita Hayworth to Hawaii only after receiving an immigration agent's approval.

The Argentine-born Haymes—arrested yesterday for alleged illegal entry as an alien—acted in good faith and "is a citizen in his heart," his attorney said.

Atty. Robert Eaton said that Haymes, prior to his trip to Honolulu, "sought the advice and approval of the immigration department, and was told by one of its agents that the trip was perfectly all right."

Eaton declined to give the name of the agent whom Haymes consulted.

"That's part of our case," the lawyer said.

Eaton also said that he might appeal to Congress for an act making Haymes a citizen, as immigration director Herman Landon suggested might be necessary.

Haymes is free on $500 bond pending hearing in two weeks that could bring his deportation to Argentina.

Assistant Defense Head Gets Dunking In Ocean

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 7 (AP)—The Pentagon got its pants wet the other day.

Officers aboard the battleship Missouri tell the story this way:

Frank C. Nash, assistant secretary of defense, boarded the Missouri when she stopped at Guantanamo on her way back to Norfolk from a midshipman training cruise in South American and Caribbean waters.

Somewhere between Guantanamo and Norfolk arrangements were made to transfer Nash from the Mighty Mo to a destroyer in the training squadron.

A line was rigged between the two ships and Nash climbed into the breeches buoy.

Out over the Atlantic Nash skimmed. When he was about midway something happened. Maybe it was accidental that the line became slack, maybe somebody thought it would be fun to dunk such top brass.

Anyhow before you could say aye sir the assistant secretary of defense was down in the drink.

Cameras clicked like mad as shutterbugs had a field day. Nash reached the destroyer, safe and sound but dripping wet. Later examination of the film, however, caused great disappointment. Some pictures were out of focus and the others were too small to be used.

So it seems posterity will be deprived of pictorial proof of the Pentagon's wet pants.

Communists Riot In Berlin

Police Repel Attackers At Food Centers

BERLIN, Aug. 7 (AP)—Communists rioted in West Berlin late today, but police commandos and water cannon crushed attacks by 900 Red storm-troopers against American food relief for hungry East Germans.

Three bloody riots flared simultaneously at food give-away points in the U. S. and French sectors. More than 400 police commandos, reinforced with water cannon, charged the defiant Communist demonstrators.

35 Rioters Jailed

Thirty rioters, five with broken heads, were hauled off to jail and hundreds fled back to nearby Soviet territory.

The West Berlin police who smashed back 6,000 rioting Communists at the food distribution centers last Tuesday, were tipped off in advance that the Reds planned new trouble today.

The hottest battle was waged on Prinzen Allee in the French sector. Police blasted 500 violent Reds there with water cannon (high pressure nozzles mounted on revolving turrets of trucks) and then closed in with flailing clubs.

Another mob of 300 started a "protest march" in Neukoelln, but 200 police commandos slammed in with clubs and sent them fleeing in less than five minutes.

A hundred Communist toughs suddenly attacked six regular patrolmen guarding a Kreuzberg food distribution center and tried to steal the registration files of East German food applicants. Three buses with 120 police commandos and a water-cannon truck raced to this alarm.

Fail To Halt Distribution

But Red terror and plunder have failed to halt the huge food distribution project. The total of packages handed out climbed toward the two million mark.

The East German regime copied Nazi tactics today to persecute the needy when they returned to their zonal homes with American lard and other treasured foodstuffs.

Communist rowdies stoned women with food packages as they arrived by train at Fuerstenwalde.

In Mecklenburg, Communist sound trucks toured many towns, broadcasting the names of citizens "now in West Berlin picking up beggar parcels" and urging that they be publicly beaten when they returned. The sound-trucks gave the time they were expected by train.

Paris Strikes Are On Wane

PARIS, Saturday, Aug. 8 (AP)—The crippling wave of strikes that hit France at the peak of the lucrative tourist season appeared to be waning today. Rail, bus and subway workers agreed to return to their jobs.

The first trains chugged out of Paris' big rail terminals early today, ending the 24-hour walkout protesting economies Premier Joseph Laniel's government was rumored contemplating at the expense of workers on the public payroll. In other cities the rail strike continued, however.

The three big labor unions involved in the strikes — Socialist Workers Force, Christian Labor Federation and Communist-led Federation of Labor—voted to call off the strike of bus and subway workers. It has paralyzed transport in all big cities since noon Friday.

Civil servants also agreed to return to their desks.

Strikes in the big government-owned gas and electric power industries were scheduled to continue until midnight Saturday.

A estimated two million Frenchmen from a wide variety of occupations ranging from street sweepers to power and gas employes, left their jobs in the spontaneous protest against Laniel's proposals. It was the worst strike France has seen in 17 years.

Signs Surplus Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP) —President Eisenhower signed today a congressional act allowing him to send up to 100 million dollars worth of surplus food and farm products to friendly nations beset by famine or other emergency.

Turk Weeps Over Flag

Tears in his eyes and emotion written on his face, an unidentified Turkish soldier holds a Turkish flag he has just kissed after being released in the exchange of POWs at Panmunjom. With him is a Turkish liaison officer.

Justice Dept. To Probe Tax Case Payment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Justice Department announced today it is investigating the circumstances surrounding a $65,000 payment made to Welburn Mayock, a lawyer, for getting a favorable tax ruling for a New York business executive.

Mayock told House investigators earlier this week he got the money from William S. Lasdon, chemical company executive of Yonkers, N. Y., in 1948 and contributed $30,000 of it to the Democratic campaign fund that year.

Mayock described himself as a volunteer counsel for the Democratic National Committee at that time and said he was "a busy little bee" generally for the Democrats.

The payment was aired by a House ways and means subcommittee which is investigating tax policies under the Truman regime. John Tobin, subcommittee counsel, said it was calculated that the government lost gross tax revenue of $7,750,000 because of the ruling Mayock obtained for Lasdon.

Informed of the Justice Department's announcement that the FBI was looking into the case, Tobin said, "the subcommittee is very pleased with the prompt move of the attorney general in seeing that there is action in this case."

Mayock testified that he obtained a favorable ruling through a personal appeal to John W. Snyder, then secretary of the Treasury.

Snyder, now vice president of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., at Toledo, Ohio, has told reporters he has no recollection of the incident.

Mayock also told the subcommittee that after receiving his fee he gave $8,750 apiece to Louis Markus and William Solomon, New Yorkers he said put him in touch with Lasdon.

Byrd Wants College To Purchase Airport

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 7 (AP)—Dr. H. C. Byrd wants the University of Maryland to buy College Park airport, oldest field in the United States, and expand it for Air Force ROTC use.

Dr. Byrd, University president, has asked the State Planning Commission for $500,000 to help the university buy and improve the field.

He said the field would provide suitable facilities to give ROTC students flight training during their senior year.

12 Pro-Russia Reds Purged By North Korean Premier

TOKYO, Saturday, Aug. 8 (AP)—The Pyongyang radio announced last night that 12 North Korean officials have been prosecuted for spying and plotting to overthrow the Communist regime.

The broadcast thus confirmed last month's South Korean intelligence reports that a great purge was in progress in the Communist north.

The North Korean broadcast, heard in Tokyo, asserted the 12 led by Lee Sung Yop, former minister of justice, were bribed to spy "for the U. S. and puppet Rhee government" of South Korea.

It said they were directed from South Korea by an American military officer identified only as "Noble."

The earlier South Korean intelligence reports had said that Red Premier Kim Il Sung was conducting the purge to get rid of pro-Russian officials and linked his action to the ouster of Lavrenty Beria as chief of the Soviet secret police.

Kim was said then to favor stronger ties with Red China as opposed to Russia.

The Pyongyang radio had announced last Sunday that Pak was succeeded as foreign minister by Gen. Nam Il, chief Red truce negotiator, but gave no reason.

What has happened to the prosecuted officials was not stated.

Dangling Rope Saves Man From Falling 144 Feet

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 7 (AP)—A dangling rope gave a 31-year-old structural iron worker two lucky breaks today, and probably saved his life.

Buster Bohannon of Oklahoma City, working on the dismantling of a television tower, was brushed from his perch 144 feet up when a lowering boom buckled.

He fell 50 feet inside the triangular tower before the dangling rope knotted about his leg. It broke his right leg, but Bohannon isn't complaining—it also broke what probably would have been a fatal fall.

Bohannon grabbed a girder before fellow workmen reached him. They lowered him to the ground.

Newsmen Seized By Red Troops

TOKYO, Saturday, Aug. 8 (AP) — Peiping radio said today three American correspondents and an American driver were seized by Communist security forces when they jeeped into Red territory at Panmunjom.

Peiping identified the correspondents as Ben Decker of International News Service, a retired rear admiral; Bill Hartigan, television cameraman for Columbia Broadcasting System, and "International News Photo Service Correspondent Frank Broedel."

Kansas Man Named National VFW Head

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 7 (AP)—Delegates to the 54th national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars today advanced Wayne E. Richards of Arkansas City, Kan. to commander in chief of the group.

Dr. Guy C. Richardson, Bristo, Tenn-Va., was elected surgeon general.

Ike Opens Way For 214,000 Immigrants To Enter U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower opened the door for 214,000 extra immigrants today when he signed a bill permitting them to enter the United States over the next three years.

The legislation is aimed at providing a refuge for people fleeing from Iron Curtain countries, orphans and some other special categories.

It demonstrates again, the President said, "America's traditional concern for the homeless, the persecuted and the less fortunate of other lands."

Congress did not open the door as wide as Eisenhower requested, however. It reduced the number of immigrants from 240,000 to 214,000 and spread the period of their admission from two years to three.

It also wrote into the law rigid screening procedures. Sponsors of these provisions said they were necessary to bar Communists and their sympathizers.

All persons admitted under the new law will be in addition to the regular immigration quotas.

The signing ceremony was witnessed by a group of legislators who helped get the bill through the House and Senate, and by others interested in the measure.

Eisenhower called the legislation "a significant humanitarian act and an important contribution toward greater understanding and co-operation among the nations of the free world." He called on other free nations to follow America's example.

The law authorizes the admission of 55,000 persons of German ethnic origin who were forced out of Russia and her satellite countries. It also permits the entry of 35,000 escapees residing in Western Germany or Austria, and 10,000 residing in North Atlantic treaty nations, or in Sweden, Iran or the free territory of Trieste.

Fourth Day Of Exchange Moves Along

Most Of 90 American Captives Are Negroes, Few In Ill Health

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, Aug. 8 (AP)—More Allied war captives came back today from the miseries and hardships of Red Korean prison camps to the warmth and bounty of their own people as the big post-armistice exchange rolled through the fourth day.

They rode out of the Korean northland in rumbling Molotov trucks led in column by Russian-made jeeps.

Joke And Banter

Some of them joked and bantered as they waited for the call to clamber down from the vehicles of their captors and join their own side.

"Where is the mess hall?" several Americans shouted.

"Say, who's leading the National League?" another yelled, and—

"Are the Yankees still leading the American?"

The lightness of their quips contrasted startingly with the deprivations and cruel treatment described by others released from Communist captivity during the past three days.

The first 100 captives released today included 25 Americans, all Negroes. Most of these were from the 25th Division's 24th Regiment which was in the Korean fighting almost from the start.

The second group included Turks, South Koreans and Americans, the latter all Negroes, too.

All except one of the first Americans released appeared to be in good health. That one carried a cane and limped.

One of the Negroes carried a skin drum. Another wore a red and white cap, a colorful contrast to the drab blue prisoner garb.

The freed prisoners were rushed on to Freedom Village for medical checks, fresh food, clean clothing and the start of the long journey home.

Chinese Reds Sing

Most of these tore off their clothes, boots, canteens and mess kits. The road through Panmunjom was littered.

Korean civilians came down from the hills and quickly gathered the abandoned articles.

American captives released earlier disclosed that a handful of their comrades had chosen to remain with the Communists. They also amplified reports that Red prison authorities were jailing Allied prisoners on the eve of repatriation for "instigating against the peace."

In all, 90 Americans were to come back today.

Wood To Direct Korean Relief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—C. Tyler Wood, deputy foreign aid chief, was named today to direct the gigantic American relief and reconstruction program in Korea.

Wood, who is deputy to Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen, will serve as Gen. Mark Clark's chief economic staff officer in carrying out the program. His title will be "Economic Coordinator in Korea."

Wood, one of the architects of the Marshall Plan for European reconstruction, plans to leave Washington by plane Monday to undertake his new assignment.

As reconstruction director, he will supervise the spending of hundreds of millions of American dollars to rebuild war-devastated Korea into the "show window" of the Far East in line with President Eisenhower's plan. Congress already has appropriated 200 million dollars as a first installment.

Wood, a former partner in the New York investment firm of Gilbert Elliott & Co., entered government service early in 1952, with the War Production Board. Later, he joined the Army and emerged a colonel on the staff of Gen. Lucius Clay.

Police Repel Attackers At Food Centers

BERLIN, Aug. 7 (AP)—Communists rioted in West Berlin late today, but police commandos and water cannon crushed attacks by 900 Red storm-troopers against American food relief for hungry East Germans.

Three bloody riots flared simultaneously at food give-away points in the U. S. and French sectors. More than 400 police commandos, reinforced with water cannon, charged the defiant Communist demonstrators.

35 Rioters Jailed

Thirty rioters, five with broken heads, were hauled off to jail and hundreds fled back to nearby Soviet territory.

The West Berlin police who smashed back 6,000 rioting Communists at the food distribution centers last Tuesday, were tipped off in advance that the Reds planned new trouble today.

The hottest battle was waged on Prinzen Allee in the French sector. Police blasted 500 violent Reds there with water cannon (high pressure nozzles mounted on revolving turrets of trucks) and then closed in with flailing clubs.

Another mob of 300 started a "protest march" in Neukoelln, but 200 police commandos slammed in with clubs and sent them fleeing in less than five minutes.

A hundred Communist toughs suddenly attacked six regular patrolmen guarding a Kreuzberg food distribution center and tried to steal the registration files of East German food applicants. Three buses with 120 police commandos and a water-cannon truck raced to this alarm.

Fail To Halt Distribution

But Red terror and plunder have failed to halt the huge food distribution project. The total of packages handed out climbed toward the two million mark.

The East German regime copied Nazi tactics today to persecute the needy when they returned to their zonal homes with American lard and other treasured foodstuffs.

In Mecklenburg, Communist sound trucks toured many towns, broadcasting the names of citizens "now in West Berlin picking up beggar parcels" and urging that they be publicly beaten when they returned. The sound-trucks gave the time they were expected by train.

Paris Strikes Are On Wane

PARIS, Saturday, Aug. 8 (AP)—The crippling wave of strikes that hit France at the peak of the lucrative tourist season appeared to be waning today. Rail, bus and subway workers agreed to return to their jobs.

The first trains chugged out of Paris' big rail terminals early today, ending the 24-hour walkout protesting economies Premier Joseph Laniel's government was rumored contemplating at the expense of workers on the public payroll. In other cities the rail strike continued, however.

The three big labor unions involved in the strikes — Socialist Workers Force, Christian Labor Federation and Communist-led Federation of Labor—voted to call off the strike of bus and subway workers. It has paralyzed transport in all big cities since noon Friday.

Civil servants also agreed to return to their desks.

Strikes in the big government-owned gas and electric power industries were scheduled to continue until midnight Saturday.

A estimated two million Frenchmen from a wide variety of occupations ranging from street sweepers to power and gas employes, left their jobs in the spontaneous protest against Laniel's proposals. It was the worst strike France has seen in 17 years.

Signs Surplus Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP) —President Eisenhower signed today a congressional act allowing him to send up to 100 million dollars worth of surplus food and farm products to friendly nations beset by famine or other emergency.

Turk Weeps Over Flag

Tears in his eyes and emotion written on his face, an unidentified Turkish soldier holds a Turkish flag he has just kissed after being released in the exchange of POWs at Panmunjom. With him is a Turkish liaison officer.

Justice Dept. To Probe Tax Case Payment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Justice Department announced today it is investigating the circumstances surrounding a $65,000 payment made to Welburn Mayock, a lawyer, for getting a favorable tax ruling for a New York business executive.

Mayock told House investigators earlier this week he got the money from William S. Lasdon, chemical company executive of Yonkers, N. Y., in 1948 and contributed $30,000 of it to the Democratic campaign fund that year.

Mayock described himself as a volunteer counsel for the Democratic National Committee at that time and said he was "a busy little bee" generally for the Democrats.

The payment was aired by a House ways and means subcommittee which is investigating tax policies under the Truman regime. John Tobin, subcommittee counsel, said it was calculated that the government lost gross tax revenue of $7,750,000 because of the ruling Mayock obtained for Lasdon.

Informed of the Justice Department's announcement that the FBI was looking into the case, Tobin said, "the subcommittee is very pleased with the prompt move of the attorney general in seeing that there is action in this case."

Mayock testified that he obtained a favorable ruling through a personal appeal to John W. Snyder, then secretary of the Treasury.

Snyder, now vice president of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., at Toledo, Ohio, has told reporters he has no recollection of the incident.

Mayock also told the subcommittee that after receiving his fee he gave $8,750 apiece to Louis Markus and William Solomon, New Yorkers he said put him in touch with Lasdon.

Byrd Wants College To Purchase Airport

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 7 (AP)—Dr. H. C. Byrd wants the University of Maryland to buy College Park airport, oldest field in the United States, and expand it for Air Force ROTC use.

Dr. Byrd, University president, has asked the State Planning Commission for $500,000 to help the university buy and improve the field.

He said the field would provide suitable facilities to give ROTC students flight training during their senior year.

12 Pro-Russia Reds Purged By North Korean Premier

TOKYO, Saturday, Aug. 8 (AP)—The Pyongyang radio announced last night that 12 North Korean officials have been prosecuted for spying and plotting to overthrow the Communist regime.

The broadcast thus confirmed last month's South Korean intelligence reports that a great purge was in progress in the Communist north.

The North Korean broadcast, heard in Tokyo, asserted the 12 led by Lee Sung Yop, former minister of justice, were bribed to spy "for the U. S. and puppet Rhee government" of South Korea.

It said they were directed from South Korea by an American military officer identified only as "Noble."

The earlier South Korean intelligence reports had said that Red Premier Kim Il Sung was conducting the purge to get rid of pro-Russian officials and linked his action to the ouster of Lavrenty Beria as chief of the Soviet secret police.

Kim was said then to favor stronger ties with Red China as opposed to Russia.

The Pyongyang radio had announced last Sunday that Pak was succeeded as foreign minister by Gen. Nam Il, chief Red truce negotiator, but gave no reason.

What has happened to the prosecuted officials was not stated.

Dangling Rope Saves Man From Falling 144 Feet

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 7 (AP)—A dangling rope gave a 31-year-old structural iron worker two lucky breaks today, and probably saved his life.

Buster Bohannon of Oklahoma City, working on the dismantling of a television tower, was brushed from his perch 144 feet up when a lowering boom buckled.

He fell 50 feet inside the triangular tower before the dangling rope knotted about his leg. It broke his right leg, but Bohannon isn't complaining—it also broke what probably would have been a fatal fall.

Bohannon grabbed a girder before fellow workmen reached him. They lowered him to the ground.

Newsmen Seized By Red Troops

TOKYO, Saturday, Aug. 8 (AP) — Peiping radio said today three American correspondents and an American driver were seized by Communist security forces when they jeeped into Red territory at Panmunjom.

Peiping identified the correspondents as Ben Decker of International News Service, a retired rear admiral; Bill Hartigan, television cameraman for Columbia Broadcasting System, and "International News Photo Service Correspondent Frank Broedel."

Kansas Man Named National VFW Head

Dr. Guy C. Richardson, Bristo, Tenn-Va., was elected surgeon general.

Ike Opens Way For 214,000 Immigrants To Enter U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower opened the door for 214,000 extra immigrants today when he signed a bill permitting them to enter the United States over the next three years.

The legislation is aimed at providing a refuge for people fleeing from Iron Curtain countries, orphans and some other special categories.

It demonstrates again, the President said, "America's traditional concern for the homeless, the persecuted and the less fortunate of other lands."

Congress did not open the door as wide as Eisenhower requested, however. It reduced the number of immigrants from 240,000 to 214,000 and spread the period of their admission from two years to three.

It also wrote into the law rigid screening procedures. Sponsors of these provisions said they were necessary to bar Communists and their sympathizers.

All persons admitted under the new law will be in addition to the regular immigration quotas.

The signing ceremony was witnessed by a group of legislators who helped get the bill through the House and Senate, and by others interested in the measure.

Eisenhower called the legislation "a significant humanitarian act and an important contribution toward greater understanding and co-operation among the nations of the free world." He called on other free nations to follow America's example.

The law authorizes the admission of 55,000 persons of German ethnic origin who were forced out of Russia and her satellite countries. It also permits the entry of 35,000 escapees residing in Western Germany or Austria, and 10,000 residing in North Atlantic treaty nations, or in Sweden, Iran or the free territory of Trieste.

Fourth Day Of Exchange Moves Along

Most Of 90 American Captives Are Negroes, Few In Ill Health

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, Aug. 8 (AP)—More Allied war captives came back today from the miseries and hardships of Red Korean prison camps to the warmth and bounty of their own people as the big post-armistice exchange rolled through the fourth day.

They rode out of the Korean northland in rumbling Molotov trucks led in column by Russian-made jeeps.

Joke And Banter

Some of them joked and bantered as they waited for the call to clamber down from the vehicles of their captors and join their own side.

"Where is the mess hall?" several Americans shouted.

"Say, who's leading the National League?" another yelled, and—

"Are the Yankees still leading the American?"

The lightness of their quips contrasted startingly with the deprivations and cruel treatment described by others released from Communist captivity during the past three days.

The first 100 captives released today included 25 Americans, all Negroes. Most of these were from the 25th Division's 24th Regiment which was in the Korean fighting almost from the start.

The second group included Turks, South Koreans and Americans, the latter all Negroes, too.

All except one of the first Americans released appeared to be in good health. That one carried a cane and limped.

One of the Negroes carried a skin drum. Another wore a red and white cap, a colorful contrast to the drab blue prisoner garb.

The freed prisoners were rushed on to Freedom Village for medical checks, fresh food, clean clothing and the start of the long journey home.

Chinese Reds Sing

Most of these tore off their clothes, boots, canteens and mess kits. The road through Panmunjom was littered.

Korean civilians came down from the hills and quickly gathered the abandoned articles.

American captives released earlier disclosed that a handful of their comrades had chosen to remain with the Communists. They also amplified reports that Red prison authorities were jailing Allied prisoners on the eve of repatriation for "instigating against the peace."

In all, 90 Americans were to come back today.

Wood To Direct Korean Relief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—C. Tyler Wood, deputy foreign aid chief, was named today to direct the gigantic American relief and reconstruction program in Korea.

Wood, who is deputy to Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen, will serve as Gen. Mark Clark's chief economic staff officer in carrying out the program. His title will be "Economic Coordinator in Korea."

Wood, one of the architects of the Marshall Plan for European reconstruction, plans to leave Washington by plane Monday to undertake his new assignment.

As reconstruction director, he will supervise the spending of hundreds of millions of American dollars to rebuild war-devastated Korea into the "show window" of the Far East in line with President Eisenhower's plan. Congress already has appropriated 200 million dollars as a first installment.

Wood, a former partner in the New York investment firm of Gilbert Elliott & Co., entered government service early in 1952, with the War Production Board. Later, he joined the Army and emerged a colonel on the staff of Gen. Lucius Clay.

Allies Pledge Korea Support Against Attack

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—The United Nations was notified today that the United States and 15 other countries with troops in Korea have signed a declaration pledging quick Allied resistance against any new Red attack in Korea.

The declaration said "The consequences of such a breach of the armistice would be so grave that, in all probability, it would not be possible to confine hostilities within the frontiers of Korea."

Appears As Warning

This appeared to be a warning of possible air attacks on Communist China or perhaps a naval blockade in the event of new Red aggression.

A spokesman at the British Foreign Office in London, reacting quickly to the announcement here, said that Britain, a signer, was not committed in advance to "any precise course of action" in Korea. He said future circumstances would determine what the British would do.

The declaration was turned over to U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold as part of a special report by the United States government, acting as head of the Unified Command in Korea.

It was signed in Washington July 27 but not published at the time.

The filing of the report coincided with a visit of the U. N. commander, Gen. Mark W. Clark, to U. N. headquarters.

Favors Atomic Use

Clark told reporters in Washington yesterday that he favored the use of all available weapons in the event of a new Communist attack—presumably including atomic weapons.

Clark, however, made no mention of possible extension of the war outside Korea and there was no hint of this at another news conference Clark held here today.

The nations that signed the 16-power U. N. declaration are the United States, Britain, France, Australia, Canada, Belgium, Colombia, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Thailand, Greece, Turkey, Ethiopia, The Philippines, South Africa and Luxembourg.

At the U. N. today Clark expressed a hope that all U. N. governments will maintain their present military strength in Korea until a firm peace is established.

Mahmal Ceremony Is Held In Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 7 (AP)—Egypt today held the ceremony of the mahmal (sacred carpet), marking the official opening of the pilgrimage to Mecca. Pilgrims who will carry the sacred carpet to Mecca marched past President Mohamed Naguib and other government heads.

Wins $96,969 Case, Dies Of Heart Attack

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7 (AP)—George E. Toner, 54, who won a court award of $96,969 on May 21 for a grain-loading device he invented seven years ago, died suddenly yesterday after suffering a heart attack.

He suffered the attack in a Philadelphia rooming house where he lived during the week while working in the accounting office at the Graduate Hospital. His main residence was at Delanco, N. J., with his wife, son-in-law and daughter.

Toner won his legal victory in U. S. District Court through a determination of a special master who ruled he should receive 50 per cent of the adjusted net profits earned by his "grain trimmer" over a 5-year period.

Navy To Drop 2,200 Officers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Navy announced today 2,200 reserve officers will be dropped next January.

The announcement said the forcing out of the officers, now on active duty, was necessary to keep within budget limits.

A special board already has completed action that will eliminate 1,200 reserve lieutenant commanders and captains. Some 1,000 reserve lieutenants will be selected for release by another board now in session. There are about 11,000 reserve lieutenants now on active duty.

The Navy said that normal attrition and routine releases will take care of slight reductions in the number of lieutenants, junior grade, and ensigns.

The Navy now has 37,000 reserve officers in all grades on duty.

Exempted from the involuntary release program are officers in such specialist categories as engineering.

All officers scheduled for involuntary release are to be notified by letters which will be in the mail by Sept. 1.

President Signs Military Measure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower signed today a bill authorizing the construction of $491,595,930 of Army, Navy and Air Force projects at home and abroad.

It authorizes $133,676,000 for the Army, $87,011,130 for the Navy, $269,509,000 for the Air Force, and $1,404,800 for Alaskan communications.

The total is about 42 million dollars less than originally requested by the services.

More than 166 million passengers—more than the entire population of the United States—have been carried by scheduled airlines of the U. S. since 1926.

FPC Allows Natural Gas Rate Hike Of $10,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Power Commission (FPC) today allowed United Fuel Gas Co., Charleston, W. Va., a wholesale natural gas rate increase of about 10 million dollars annually.

United Fuel sells most of its gas to other subsidiaries of Columbia Gas System Inc. and directly or indirectly supplies part of the gas for 2,700,000 customers in Lexington, Ky.; Binghampton, N.Y., Toledo and Columbus, Ohio; part of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Charleston and Huntington, W. Va.; and other communities in Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York.

The Columbia system also supplies gas to local distribution companies serving Washington, D.C., Richmond and Arlington, Va.; Baltimore and Silver Spring, Md., Cincinnati and Dayton, Ohio; and counties in New York.

United Fuel, a subsidiary of Columbia Gas, had filed two proposed rate increases totaling $14,100,000 annually, but the FPC had suspended both.

Today's order found that the first proposed increase of about $7,200,000, which was filed Aug. 6, 1951, and put into effect under bond Feb. 6, 1952, was justified for the period Feb. 6, 1952 to Feb. 14, 1953, and said United Fuel would not be required to refund any portion of the money collected under it.

The second increase amounting to $6,900,000 was filed Aug. 15, 1952, and became effective under bond on Feb. 15, 1953.

The FPC said that the proposed increases aggregating more than 14 million dollars were based on estimated sales but on the basis of actual sales for a test year ended June 30, 1952, they aggregated 13 million dollars per year.

It said that since the fixed rates for the future would produce about three million dollars less annually than the total proposed in the second rate schedule, United Fuel must make refunds to its customers on the basis of the new rates for the period from Feb. 15, 1953 to Aug. 7, 1953.

Foreign Aid Bill Inked By President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed into law a tailored foreign aid bill, giving him 6½ billion dollars to spend on global military and economic assistance in the year beginning July 1.

Congress, after bitter wrangling, appropriated $4,530,457,999 in new money and authorized the administration to use $2,121,964,391 from unused holdover funds, after returning 50 million dollars to the Treasury.

The final total was 645 million dollars less than the President's third and final "honest minimum" and 995 million dollars below a revised budget which the administration fought to maintain.

Former President Truman had recommended $7,600,000,000 in new funds, with no accountability for more than two billion dollars of unpledged holdover money—a total of more than nine billion dollars.

Engineer Runs 17 Miles On His 62nd Birthday

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—Jesse F. Hyde Sr. celebrated his 62nd birthday today by running 17 miles, from here to Endicott and back, in 2½ hours.

Hyde, whose walking and running feats are legend in the area, said he undertook the birthday jaunt "to show young people that if they take care of themselves they can do such stunts at an advanced age."

A stationary engineer for an insurance firm, he told the 75 spectators who gathered to greet him at the finish:

"I feel all right except that my legs are a little tired."

Torture Club Is Uncovered

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 7 (AP)—Juvenile police today disclosed the fantastic story of a torture club in which two children of 10 and 11 imprisoned younger playmates and burned them with heated curtain rods.

Patrolman Joseph Channon said the existence of the "Skeleton Club" in southeast Columbus became known after a father complained that his 7-year-old daughter came home with rope burns on her wrists and burns on her hips.

Channon said a 10-year-old boy and an 11-year-old girl headed the club.

The father of the burned girl said her injuries came apparently when older children heated curtain rods and touched them to the girl's clothing. The clothing was burned but did not ignite. The girl said she was tied in a garage by club members.

Channon said a 5-year-old boy also was treated in this manner.

"Moon Is Blue" Passed By Censors

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 7 (AP)—The movie, "The Moon Is Blue," has been passed by the Virginia Division of Motion Picture Censorship.

The movie failed to receive the Production Code Seal of Hollywood's Breen Office, which rules on the fitness of films. In addition, the Catholic Legion of Decency condemned the film and Cardinal Spellman asked Roman Catholics in his New York Diocese to boycott it.

Censors in Ohio, Kansas and Maryland also banned the film.

United Fuel, a subsidiary of Columbia Gas, had filed two proposed rate increases totaling $14,100,000 annually, but the FPC had suspended both.

Today's order found that the first proposed increase of about $7,200,000, which was filed Aug. 6, 1951, and put into effect under bond Feb. 6, 1952, was justified for the period Feb. 6, 1952 to Feb. 14, 1953, and said United Fuel would not be required to refund any portion of the money collected under it.

The second increase amounting to $6,900,000 was filed Aug. 15, 1952, and became effective under bond on Feb. 15, 1953.

The FPC said that the proposed increases aggregating more than 14 million dollars were based on estimated sales but on the basis of actual sales for a test year ended June 30, 1952, they aggregated 13 million dollars per year.

It said that since the fixed rates for the future would produce about three million dollars less annually than the total proposed in the second rate schedule, United Fuel must make refunds to its customers on the basis of the new rates for the period from Feb. 15, 1953 to Aug. 7, 1953.

Foreign Aid Bill Inked By President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed into law a tailored foreign aid bill, giving him 6½ billion dollars to spend on global military and economic assistance in the year beginning July 1.

Congress, after bitter wrangling, appropriated $4,530,457,999 in new money and authorized the administration to use $2,121,964,391 from unused holdover funds, after returning 50 million dollars to the Treasury.

The final total was 645 million dollars less than the President's third and final "honest minimum" and 995 million dollars below a revised budget which the administration fought to maintain.

Former President Truman had recommended $7,600,000,000 in new funds, with no accountability for more than two billion dollars of unpledged holdover money—a total of more than nine billion dollars.

Hoffman Is Fined $10 For Speeding

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 7 (AP)—Congressman Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich) went to court today just like any other citizen and was fined $10 and costs on a speeding charge.

Engineer Runs 17 Miles On His 62nd Birthday

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—Jesse F. Hyde Sr. celebrated his 62nd birthday today by running 17 miles, from here to Endicott and back, in 2½ hours.

Hyde, whose walking and running feats are legend in the area, said he undertook the birthday jaunt "to show young people that if they take care of themselves they can do such stunts at an advanced age."

A stationary engineer for an insurance firm, he told the 75 spectators who gathered to greet him at the finish:

"I feel all right except that my legs are a little tired."

Torture Club Is Uncovered

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 7 (AP)—Juvenile police today disclosed the fantastic story of a torture club in which two children of 10 and 11 imprisoned younger playmates and burned them with heated curtain rods.

Patrolman Joseph Channon said the existence of the "Skeleton Club" in southeast Columbus became known after a father complained that his 7-year-old daughter came home with rope burns on her wrists and burns on her hips.

Channon said a 10-year-old boy and an 11-year-old girl headed the club.

The father of the burned girl said her injuries came apparently when older children heated curtain rods and touched them to the girl's clothing. The clothing was burned but did not ignite. The girl said she was tied in a garage by club members.

Channon said a 5-year-old boy also was treated in this manner.

"Moon Is Blue" Passed By Censors

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 7 (AP)—The movie, "The Moon Is Blue," has been passed by the Virginia Division of Motion Picture Censorship.

The movie failed to receive the Production Code Seal of Hollywood's Breen Office, which rules on the fitness of films. In addition, the Catholic Legion of Decency condemned the film and Cardinal Spellman asked Roman Catholics in his New York Diocese to boycott it.

Censors in Ohio, Kansas and Maryland also banned the film.

Control Of The Waterfront

If a real "cleaning up" is accomplished in the International Longshoremen's Association, the scrubbing will probably have to come from the American Federation of Labor. The AFL has repeatedly ordered the ILA, on threat of expulsion, to abandon its racketeering practices and purge itself of officials with criminal records.

If the AFL should decide to drop the ILA as an affiliate union, a natural next move would be to establish a rival union. Relatively gangster-free ILA locals away from the port of New York have indicated that they want to stay in the AFL even if the ILA is expelled. If the AFL has been slow in acting to kick out the ILA, the reason is that forming a rival union could mean civil war on the docks, at least in the New York area.

The original ultimatum to the ILA came from the AFL executive council on February 3. The longshoremen were given until April 30 to clean up their union. The deadline was later extended to August 10.

On May 26 AFL President Meany sent ILA President Ryan a letter rejecting Ryan's proposals for an internal cleanup. The ILA executive council had ordered its New York and New Jersey locals to abolish the "shape-up" system of hiring, despite a vote (on May 8) of those locals in favor of the system. But the longshoremen had refused to oust officers with criminal records unless the AFL adopted rules requiring all affiliates to do likewise. Ryan is awaiting trial on indictment of having diverted union funds to his own use.

At this writing the ILA in the course of its "clean up" from within is faced with internal revolt. Local 327-1 in Brooklyn has refused to turn over its books to one of three administrators appointed by the ILA. Anthony Anastasia — "Tough Tony" — business agent and boss of the local, has announced his own plans to clean up the Brooklyn waterfront "with or without the ILA." On July 30 Anastasia indicated that he would go to Chicago to present his own case before the AFL executive council.

The 1953 session of Congress accepted a New York-New Jersey waterfront commission designed to combat crime on the piers. The commission would license pier superintendents, hiring agents, stevedores, and port watchmen. Conviction for a crime would be ground for losing a license. The shape-up hiring system would be abolished. In both legislatures and in both houses of Congress only one vote was cast against the commission—in New Jersey.

Latest Red Outrage

The last plane shot down by U. S. airmen in the final hours before the Korean cease-fire was a twin-engined Russian type transport, which U. S. Air Force jets caught trying to sneak out of North Korea to sanctuary beyond the Yalu. The U. S. fliers pinpointed the attack, and there was no question about its being fair game.

There had been conjecture that this plane was carrying high Russian and Chinese dignitaries back from the North Korean capital of Pyongyang, where it was known there was a big gathering and celebration. It is entirely possible, then, that U. S. jet pilots bagged a bigger piece of game than they realized.

With this background, the unprovoked attack on the U. S. B-50 bomber, and the brazen repetition of the Russian charges: "Plane was over Russian territory . . . fired on Russian planes, etc.," begins to fall into place. It is as if the Russian commanders, stung by a loss, told their fliers to go get an American plane, any plane.

The Air Force runs constant patrols along the perimeter of the Soviet borders with its big bombers, equipped to pick up enemy radar pulses and possibly rigged to sample the air for atomic explosions. All these planes stay scrupulously wide of the coastline to avoid repetitions of the numerous incidents of the past two or three years.

The co-pilot of the downed bomber, the lone survivor in American hands, says the plane was 40 miles off shore when a pair of MIGs attacked it.

The uneasy period of truce will probably be marked by many more such incidents as the Russians permit their battered allies to lick their wounds and return to the tried and true methods of harassment. Airmen in the Far East have no illusions about the truce. Each "routine patrol" can be as fatal as a battle mission.

Milwaukee Shows Way

Attendance at games played at home by the Milwaukee Braves has passed the 1,000,000 mark—the highest average attendance in the major leagues this year—and as a result total attendance in the National League is slightly ahead of the 1952 figures.

Looking back over the chain of events which led to this renaissance, it is interesting to note that last year's total attendance in home games played by the Braves—then at Boston—was 281,000. The only team approaching the Braves' attendance record this year is the New York Yankees. However, the Yankees have played more home games this year than the Braves.

The Braves' front office is now thinking in terms of a 1953 home attendance record of 1,500,000 or more.

Granted that the frantic adulation of the Braves may wear off in a year or so, it is clear that major league baseball is never going to better itself by sitting still. Rumors that the American League Browns may leave St. Louis for the West Coast have been denied, but it is a cinch that the hapless team cannot remain in St. Louis. Perhaps they will wind up in Baltimore which almost got the club in the Spring.

Conditions at Boston are being repeated in other two-team cities. Will the declining share of the entertainment dollar support two teams in Philadelphia for long, or three in New York?

The future will probably not reveal a picture of major league teams jumping from one city to another for a quick clean-up-and-go. But it does presage a process whereby major league ball goes to the people, and not merely the reverse.

How To Keep Well

Clean Kitchens

While traveling across the country recently I had the pleasure of dining with Dr. Herman Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health. We were among the first in the diner and after looking at the menu he said: "When eating out I always try to be among the first served in restaurant or diner. Many people ask me why I have made this rule."

For more than 30 years, Dr. Bundesen has inspected kitchens of restaurants, clubs, and hotels as part of his duty as health officer. He has found that when meals are first served the kitchens usually are immaculate, the personnel is relaxed, and the food is handled with care. But as business increases tension mounts; at the end of an hour every one is working at top speed and the kitchen, like any busy workshop, becomes more and more messy. In Dr. Bundesen's opinion, by coming early he avoids the possible consequences of such an environment. He also stated that at this later time clubs and restaurants do not like to be inspected.

Cleanliness in kitchens and the safe handling of food are essential for protection against food poisoning. There are several infections of this type and various routes thru which contamination is possible. In some instances food itself has decomposed or has been adulterated in other ways. In others, the blame rests with food handlers who have a cold or an infection on hands or fingers. The equipment may be unclean, especially dishes, silverware, and mixing bowls. Unless the dishwashing machine works properly the dishes are not safe to use.

The most common type of food poisoning is that brought on by the staphylococcus. This organism is as fond as we are of foods containing custard and cream fillings as well as milk, milk products, meat, and cured ham. When the invaders gain a foothold they not only multiply rapidly but give off a noxious substance that is toxic to man. Numerous epidemics have been traced to foods that have been allowed to stand at room temperature for hours during which time staphylococci increased rapidly in numbers.

This type of food poisoning is common in the summer months because heat acts like an incubator so far as germs are concerned. They grow so quickly that within a few hours that delectable looking ham or egg salad will change to a poisonous dish. Because picnics and weekends in the country are a welcome break from the regular routine, it is understandable why such outbreaks are associated with the good old summer time. To avoid trouble along this line, food should be kept refrigerated until it is ready to serve. If the cook has a cold she should wear a mask and no one with infected cuts or pimples on the hands should handle food.

CEREBRAL PALSY

Mrs. Y. writes: Is spastic paralysis the same as cerebral palsy?

REPLY

Yes; the latter is the newer name. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on cerebral palsy and the type of treatment being given the afflicted youngster.

SUNBATHING

H. P. writes: Is sunbathing harmful for a person who is suffering from nervous and muscle exhaustion accompanied by an anxiety neurosis and general nervous tension throughout the body? My heart and blood pressure are in good shape.

REPLY

Not harmful provided the skin can take it; and helpful if the relaxation helps your anxiety.

DIGESTING BANANAS

W. T. writes: Are ripe bananas easy to digest?

REPLY

Yes.

DIET ADDS WEIGHT

Mrs. F. writes: My husband's ulcer diet keeps him overweight. Should he try eating less?

REPLY

This problem confronts many ulcer patients and is difficult to overcome. By eating more frequently but less with each meal, he may not continue to add weight. He ought to try more skim milk and gelatin dishes and rely more upon antacids than on food to bring relief of discomfort.

RADIATION HAZARD

L. W. writes: After reading Dick Tracy's cartoon, I was wondering if radioactive iodine which I was given in a thyroid test will eventually cause the same trouble as little Wingy's?

REPLY

No, because the two products are different. Chester Gould informs me that the material picked up by Wingy is one of the ingredients used in the new phosphorescent paint we see on billboards.

SO, WHAT'S THE MATTER?

Mrs. K. writes: My feet are ice cold first and then they burn. Is this arteries?

REPLY

No, it's capillaries. When the skin is warm the capillaries are filled with blood and when these tiny blood vessels are empty the skin is cold. These blood vessels are sensitive to chanegs in temperature and in mood.

A Word From The New Sponsor

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Taft's Public Housing Work Knifed By Knowland; Los Angeles Gets Special Bonanza; Huey Long's Brother Brings Back Old Kingfish Oratory.

WASHINGTON—The last public function Senator Taft attended was the public housing conference on May 12. With him at the meeting was Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri, Democrat. This was two weeks before the doctors told him on May 26 that he had cancer.

Taft looked all in.

"I shouldn't have come here," he told Hennings. "I seem to be tired all the time. The doctor says I have some kind of anemia. I wouldn't have come at all except that I accepted the invitation a long time ago and I didn't want to let these people down. After all, public housing is one of my babies."

But while Taft lay on his deathbed two months later, his Republican colleagues, led by the man who succeeded him—Knowland of California—did some weird hatchet-work on his housing baby.

Seizing a moment when other slum-clearance senators were absent in New Hampshire attending the funeral of another great Republican, Charles Tobey, the Senate passed by voice vote a bill which drastically reduces the public housing program Taft helped to pioneer; also permits cities which have already started housing programs to back out of them; and finally gives a special bonanza to Los Angeles.

The latter is the most amazing of all. For the bill contains a special rider permitting Los Angeles to get reimbursed at the national taxpayers' expense for about $10,000,000 worth of architects' fees, land, other housing plans which the real estate lobby has now tossed out.

City Of The Angels

The "City of the Angels" had started to clear out Mexican and Negro slums, prepared to build public housing projects under the Taft Housing Act. Then the real estate lobby got busy. After a terrific campaign in which all kinds of money was spent to defeat Mayor Fletcher Bowron, Republican, the real estate lobby elected Congressman Norris Poulson, Republican, as new mayor of the City of the Angels.

Then Poulson came back to Washington, persuaded his two fellow Californians, Senator Knowland and Congressman John Phillips, to tack a special rider on the independent office appropriation bill giving Los Angeles a special bonanza which may run up to $10,000,000.

Amazing fact is that Eisenhower's own housing chief, ex-Congressman Albert Cole of Kansas, gave his O.K. to this special legislation benefiting Los Angeles, as well as to the general drastic scaling down of the Taft housing program.

Huey Long's Brother

Concurrent Senate Resolution 41 was before the House of Representatives. It suspended the deportation of 960 aliens from the U.S.A. Some were married to Americans, some had husbands fighting in Korea, all had been in the United States seven years, all had been investigated by the FBI.

Republican leader Charlie Halleck of Indiana asked that it be passed in a hurry. The bill had passed the Senate, been OK'd by all appropriate committees. Halleck asked for unanimous consent. But Overton Brooks of Louisiana objected—on the ground that certain aliens who deserved no special treatment had been included among those who did.

The debate which GOP leader Halleck sought to avoid was now on.

Striding down the aisle came the brother of the late Huey Long. A dentist by profession, Dr. George Long had seen one brother, Huey, become a U. S. senator, another brother, Earl, become governor, and a nephew, Russell, become a senator. Finally, at the age of 70, he himself was elected to the House.

A big man with a shock of gray hair to match, the freshman congressman from Louisiana strode up to the microphone in the Speaker's well. He wore a dazzling white suit, and his language dazzled the House stenographer with its sizzling, unintelligible eloquence.

Waving his arms, tossing his hair, he struck out against the tactics of the Republican leadership. Those who knew his late brother, the Kingfish, recognized the oratory. But no one, not even the reporter, could quite tell what he was saying, except for one point. He was against the bill.

As Dentist Long turned to leave the microphone, a little man, Congressman Will Neal, Republican, of West Virginia, dressed in conservative gray suit, his sparse hair plastered neatly over his brow, rose.

"Does the gentleman yield?" he asked quietly.

"Of course I yield," bellowed the gentleman from Louisiana. With fire in his eye he swung back to the microphone, looking for an argument.

"You'd better watch your language," squeaked the gentleman from West Virginia and sat down.

The bill passed by a standing vote of 117 to 3.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Sahara Desert

It gives one a queer feeling of a world in constant state of flux to be told that the Sahara Desert is something more than a vast area of sand, traversed by camels ridden by sheiks. Yet, into our modern world, the Sahara moves upon us as a political and economic potential of a high order. It is no longer to be regarded as a desert, but a land of vast and unforetellable possibilities.

The Romans knew something of that and therefore destroyed Carthage. The Mohammedans knew something of that when they conquered the north of Africa from Cairo to Casablanca. But neither Roman nor Arab ever realized how dependent the world would become upon minerals, how the center of political power would be associated with the possession of minerals, that uranium would become more important to the security of a state than gold.

It used to be that the nation that possessed gold was rich. Then coal and iron grew in importance. In this century, copper, lead, zinc, tin, uranium vie with coal and iron in economic and political significance. For instance, the United States obtains practically all of its uranium from Africa and Canada which have therefore taken on an altogether new meaning for this country, as our life as a free people depends upon our access to this mineral.

The Sahara is full of minerals and metals. It is a vast region of nearly 6,000,000 square miles or nearly twice the size of the United States. (There is some difference of opinion as to the actual size of the Sahara, depending upon how the territory is calculated.)

Most of the Sahara is controlled by France and may, in the not too distant historic future, become economically more importan. to France than France itself. In fact, if the French can hold on to the Sahara, particularly to the French protectorates, Tunisia and Morocco, France could be restored to a first-class power which she has not been since 1870. The restoration of France's position could change the balance of power in the world. It could make France the greatest of Western European countries.

The substitution of motorized transportation for the camel and fiery Arab horse can make all the difference in the development of the Sahara, for, while the camel, horse and nomadic flocks of sheep are picturesque, the tractor, jeep, airplane and automobile will change the face of this continent of sand. Nor will life be so dependent upon the oasis, surrounded by palm trees. Modern machinery can be brought in to find and dig wells, not only for water but for oil which is beginning to appear in quantities. Modern irrigation methods can transform wildernesses into agricultural paradises.

I have recently been looking at some figures showing mineral wealth already produced in this region. It runs to copper, iron, manganese, lead, zinc, tin, sulphur, and coal. Manganese is particularly important because it is not readily available for American steel production and every new find proves valuable. Coal is abundant, rising in Algeria from 17,000 tons in 1930 to about 600,000 tons in 1952. In the Moroccan part of the Sahara valuable anthracite mines are being exploited.

Africa is still looked upon as a dark and unknown continent, but it is nothing of the sort. World War II established its tremendous importance as a base for the defense of our country from any European aggressor. In the event of a war with Russia, the United States will more likely be based on Africa than on any country in Europe and the Sahara Desert will be very important to us. Actually, considerable developments of this nature have already taken place

That is one reason for the increased interest in that part of the world and the tremendous impetus that has been given to its exploration in recent years.

Another importance of the Sahara is that once modern methods of irrigation are applied, it will be possible to increase the population of the Sahara, transferring large numbers of Europeans, particularly farmers, from those countries that are vexed with surplus populations for which few solutions are at present available. For instance, migrations of Italians, Spaniards, and even Germans to the Saharan countries may be expected in increasing numbers during the next half century. The movement of Europeans to Africa could alter the social complexion of that continent.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The armistice signed in Korea isn't worth the paper it is written on.

Concrete evidence of the faithlessness of the barbarian Communists who put their signatures on the document now has become known to the world.

For, on April 11, 1953, the Communist command in Korea pledged itself in writing as follows:

"The Korean People's Army and the Chinese People's Volunteers shall deliver sick and injured captured personnel at the rate of approximately 100 a day until delivery of all sick and injured captured personnel to be repatriated by the Korean People's Army and the Chinese People's Volunteers is completed.

"The number of persons actually delivered each day shall be contingent upon the ability of the United Nations Command to receive them, but delivery shall in any case be completed prior to the termination of this agreement."

Deceived By Reds

Another provision stipulated that the agreement was "effective when signed and will terminate 20 days after the commencement of repatriation of sick and injured captured at Panmunjom."

The repatriation began on April 17, and the 20 days were up on May 7. Yet on Tuesday of this week there began an exchange of supposedly healthy prisoners, and the dispatches from Korea tell of the delivery of Americans and South Koreans to our lines in such bad physical condition that their illnesses and their wounds and their weakened bodies plainly could not all have developed since May 7, 1953.

The whole world knows now that the United Nations has been tricked and deceived with respect to the delivery of sick and wounded prisoners.

But what is more significant is that General Mark Clark, Far Eastern commander, has disclosed through a press conference in Washington that, when the Communists declared they had only 3,313 Americans, he had asked Washington to tell him what to do and the word came back to go ahead and accept that figure. At the same time, General Clark reveals, there was information available pointing to the fact that from 2,000 to 3,000 more Americans were being held prisoners. The decision, he says, was made by the U.S. and the U.N. to accept the 3,313 and to make a protest after the armistice agreement was signed.

No word of this was allowed to leak out at the time to the American people or to the peoples of Allied countries. Misleading of public opinion is not infrequent even in the "free world." So anxious was the U.N. apparently to get an armistice at any cost that the policy adopted was to take whatever the Communists offered and hope for the best afterward.

This means, unfortunately, that, if the Communists still hold 2,000 to 3,000 Americans as prisoners, they have played one of the cruelest jokes that a gangster regime in its most fiendish moments could devise. For it suggests that the 2,000 to 3,000 now will be held for ransom and, unless peace terms acceptable to the Communists are granted, the prisoners will never be returned to their homes.

This kind of leverage is understandable among Orientals. The "truce" technique is an old one in China, and the American government should have known by reason of what has happened in China's civil war that a "truce" is merely a device to gain further objectives.

Now the U.N. is faced with a humiliating defeat at the so-called "political conference" before it even begins.

The question is asked: "Should hostilities be renewed when the political conference fails?"

Truce Can Be Won

It isn't at all necessary to resume hostilities. The theory of an enlarged war is one of the invalid assumptions usually attributed to anyone who ventures to suggest that the "cold war" can be won in other ways. It could have been won and can be won provided the Allies are faithful to each other and provided the U.N. is realistic about the difference between fidelity and treason among its members. For an embargo on all trade with the Red Chinese and upon their ally — the Soviet Union — would be pressure enough to force a complete change in the viewpoint of the Communists. Such pressure can be supplemented by a blockade by the navies of the U.N. but, so long as Britain's commercial interests, who apparently control both major parties in England, can insist on trading with the enemy and on the admission of Red China to the Security Council of the U.N., barbarism will have the upper hand in the Communist Far East.

The major powers unquestionably have lost face in Asia by their policies of timidity and appeasement. Any policy they adopt now is bound to be doubly difficult. For it is known everywhere that the attitude of submissiveness by the U.N. arose despite the knowledge its member governments must have had all along about the treatment of prisoners.

Here And Now

Gems

Gemology was not in the curriculum when this writer was in school, hence his education has been sadly neglected in that respect. However, his interest has recently been stimulated by contact with a professional gemologist, the first one he had ever knowingly met.

He was not the professorial, bewhiskered type I had expected to see, but a personable, likable and obliging young man who gave his caller unhurried time in answering questions about his work, taking him into his laboratory and demonstrating the processes and the instruments used for testing and evaluating precious stones. Looking through his giant microscope one could see for himself the differences between natural and synthetic gems—a skill that sometimes leaves experts guessing—and how to detect phonies that sail under false colors.

The popular idea in uninformed circles has been that a gemologist is a double for the old school jeweler, and that "ologist" has been put on as a gloss, much as a barber would be known as a "tonsorial artist," or a dirt farmer as an "agriculturist," or the man who likes to cut bait and fish and tell fishy stories as a "piscatorian."

No Souvenirs

But there was nothing hifalutin about this gemologist. He brought out a tray of vari-colored gems and held them up caressingly one by one, calling each by its given name, remarking its beauty and coloring and its refraction as he rotated it in the bright light. In one specimen all the colors of the rainbow were reflected.

He knew the native lair of each gem, the labors that had produced it, the traditional significance of each birthstone, and what would be an appropriate gift for wife or sweetheart, or for commencement or anniversary occasions.

He didn't give out any souvenirs, and I was too modest to ask for one, but I couldn't help observing that he knew his job and loved it—two important factors for success in all callings. If ever he should choose to run for office, I would be inclined to vote for him if he ran on the Gemocratic ticket. (Sic)

What could be more enchancing to Milady's beauty and charm than a tiara of pearls, or her birthstone set in platinum?

Besides, they are so easy to obtain. All you have to do is to speak a few kind words to the man at the bank, and he will buy them for you, and without your even thinking about it, he will deduct a mere pittance from your balance, if any, at the rate of one carat per month.

Aside from the above inside information some intangibles have been gleaned in passing that the world should know about.

Since learning that oysters containing pearls are inedible, one can have peace of mind and not feel that he must gorge himself with oyster stews in hope that some day he might bite into a pearl of fabulous worth.

If you want luck, wear a garnet. The man who wins the heart and hand of Garnet will be lucky, if she lives up to the tradition of her name, which is "constancy."

If you are a habitue of the cocktail lounge, and can't locate your rabbit's foot at any time, just wear your amethyst, which is said to be a safeguard against any form of intoxication or deep unrest.

Jewels For Friends

If you want to live long, have intelligence and beauty, wear topaz, which is the emblem of staying power in friendships.

The writer lists among his friends the following jewels: Pearl, Ruby, Opal, Garnet and Beryl, all of whom shine with their own luster, and need no external adornment to give them grace and loveliness, unless it be an occasional bit of costume jewelry, which is something else.

If you will dust off your Bible and turn to the book of Revelation you will find in the 21st chapter a list of precious stones that were used in the building of the New Jerusalem which St. John saw in a vision from his high mountain.

Among them were jasper, sapphire, agate, emerald, onyx, sardius (which may have been a variety of chalcedony), crysolite, beryl, topaz, chrysophrase, jacinth and amethyst. Whence came they all? From our familiar earth, sent up by devout hearts from every city, hamlet, and countryside all over the world, to help build the immortal city in which they expect to make their future home.

There are two supreme moments in the life of every individual, both having to do with the joy of discovery. The first is when one unearths a casket of precious gems that have been hidden away unrecognized.

They are worth more than all the gold of Ophir and all the diamonds of Kimberley. One may be as poor as a church mouse, but because these treasures are within him he has great possessions. He can live and grow, and love and pray, and become like God.

The other supreme moment is when one meets his affinity and exclaims, "Where have you been all my life?" That sounds like "bann" music. Later, when husband becomes a man of note, maybe a gemologist, he will say of his wife, "She is worth far more than rubies."

When you seek godly pearls, don't overlook the twin parables of Matthew 13:44-46 about the hidden treasure and the pearl of great price, and be your own exegete.

Control Of The Waterfront

If a real "cleaning up" is accomplished in the International Longshoremen's Association, the scrubbing will probably have to come from the American Federation of Labor. The AFL has repeatedly ordered the ILA, on threat of expulsion, to abandon its racketeering practices and purge itself of officials with criminal records.

If the AFL should decide to drop the ILA as an affiliate union, a natural next move would be to establish a rival union. Relatively gangster-free ILA locals away from the port of New York have indicated that they want to stay in the AFL even if the ILA is expelled. If the AFL has been slow in acting to kick out the ILA, the reason is that forming a rival union could mean civil war on the docks, at least in the New York area.

The original ultimatum to the ILA came from the AFL executive council on February 3. The longshoremen were given until April 30 to clean up their union. The deadline was later extended to August 10.

On May 26 AFL President Meany sent ILA President Ryan a letter rejecting Ryan's proposals for an internal cleanup. The ILA executive council had ordered its New York and New Jersey locals to abolish the "shape-up" system of hiring, despite a vote (on May 8) of those locals in favor of the system. But the longshoremen had refused to oust officers with criminal records unless the AFL adopted rules requiring all affiliates to do likewise. Ryan is awaiting trial on indictment of having diverted union funds to his own use.

At this writing the ILA in the course of its "clean up" from within is faced with internal revolt. Local 327-1 in Brooklyn has refused to turn over its books to one of three administrators appointed by the ILA. Anthony Anastasia — "Tough Tony" — business agent and boss of the local, has announced his own plans to clean up the Brooklyn waterfront "with or without the ILA." On July 30 Anastasia indicated that he would go to Chicago to present his own case before the AFL executive council.

The 1953 session of Congress accepted a New York-New Jersey waterfront commission designed to combat crime on the piers. The commission would license pier superintendents, hiring agents, stevedores, and port watchmen. Conviction for a crime would be ground for losing a license. The shape-up hiring system would be abolished. In both legislatures and in both houses of Congress only one vote was cast against the commission—in New Jersey.

Latest Red Outrage

The last plane shot down by U. S. airmen in the final hours before the Korean cease-fire was a twin-engined Russian type transport, which U. S. Air Force jets caught trying to sneak out of North Korea to sanctuary beyond the Yalu. The U. S. fliers pinpointed the attack, and there was no question about its being fair game.

There had been conjecture that this plane was carrying high Russian and Chinese dignitaries back from the North Korean capital of Pyongyang, where it was known there was a big gathering and celebration. It is entirely possible, then, that U. S. jet pilots bagged a bigger piece of game than they realized.

With this background, the unprovoked attack on the U. S. B-50 bomber, and the brazen repetition of the Russian charges: "Plane was over Russian territory . . . fired on Russian planes, etc.," begins to fall into place. It is as if the Russian commanders, stung by a loss, told their fliers to go get an American plane, any plane.

The Air Force runs constant patrols along the perimeter of the Soviet borders with its big bombers, equipped to pick up enemy radar pulses and possibly rigged to sample the air for atomic explosions. All these planes stay scrupulously wide of the coastline to avoid repetitions of the numerous incidents of the past two or three years.

The co-pilot of the downed bomber, the lone survivor in American hands, says the plane was 40 miles off shore when a pair of MIGs attacked it.

The uneasy period of truce will probably be marked by many more such incidents as the Russians permit their battered allies to lick their wounds and return to the tried and true methods of harassment. Airmen in the Far East have no illusions about the truce. Each "routine patrol" can be as fatal as a battle mission.

Milwaukee Shows Way

Attendance at games played at home by the Milwaukee Braves has passed the 1,000,000 mark—the highest average attendance in the major leagues this year—and as a result total attendance in the National League is slightly ahead of the 1952 figures.

Looking back over the chain of events which led to this renaissance, it is interesting to note that last year's total attendance in home games played by the Braves—then at Boston—was 281,000. The only team approaching the Braves' attendance record this year is the New York Yankees. However, the Yankees have played more home games this year than the Braves.

The Braves' front office is now thinking in terms of a 1953 home attendance record of 1,500,000 or more.

Granted that the frantic adulation of the Braves may wear off in a year or so, it is clear that major league baseball is never going to better itself by sitting still. Rumors that the American League Browns may leave St. Louis for the West Coast have been denied, but it is a cinch that the hapless team cannot remain in St. Louis. Perhaps they will wind up in Baltimore which almost got the club in the Spring.

Conditions at Boston are being repeated in other two-team cities. Will the declining share of the entertainment dollar support two teams in Philadelphia for long, or three in New York?

The future will probably not reveal a picture of major league teams jumping from one city to another for a quick clean-up-and-go. But it does presage a process whereby major league ball goes to the people, and not merely the reverse.

How To Keep Well

Clean Kitchens

While traveling across the country recently I had the pleasure of dining with Dr. Herman Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health. We were among the first in the diner and after looking at the menu he said: "When eating out I always try to be among the first served in restaurant or diner. Many people ask me why I have made this rule."

For more than 30 years, Dr. Bundesen has inspected kitchens of restaurants, clubs, and hotels as part of his duty as health officer. He has found that when meals are first served the kitchens usually are immaculate, the personnel is relaxed, and the food is handled with care. But as business increases tension mounts; at the end of an hour every one is working at top speed and the kitchen, like any busy workshop, becomes more and more messy. In Dr. Bundesen's opinion, by coming early he avoids the possible consequences of such an environment. He also stated that at this later time clubs and restaurants do not like to be inspected.

Cleanliness in kitchens and the safe handling of food are essential for protection against food poisoning. There are several infections of this type and various routes thru which contamination is possible. In some instances food itself has decomposed or has been adulterated in other ways. In others, the blame rests with food handlers who have a cold or an infection on hands or fingers. The equipment may be unclean, especially dishes, silverware, and mixing bowls. Unless the dishwashing machine works properly the dishes are not safe to use.

The most common type of food poisoning is that brought on by the staphylococcus. This organism is as fond as we are of foods containing custard and cream fillings as well as milk, milk products, meat, and cured ham. When the invaders gain a foothold they not only multiply rapidly but give off a noxious substance that is toxic to man. Numerous epidemics have been traced to foods that have been allowed to stand at room temperature for hours during which time staphylococci increased rapidly in numbers.

This type of food poisoning is common in the summer months because heat acts like an incubator so far as germs are concerned. They grow so quickly that within a few hours that delectable looking ham or egg salad will change to a poisonous dish. Because picnics and weekends in the country are a welcome break from the regular routine, it is understandable why such outbreaks are associated with the good old summer time. To avoid trouble along this line, food should be kept refrigerated until it is ready to serve. If the cook has a cold she should wear a mask and no one with infected cuts or pimples on the hands should handle food.

CEREBRAL PALSY

Mrs. Y. writes: Is spastic paralysis the same as cerebral palsy?

REPLY

Yes; the latter is the newer name. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on cerebral palsy and the type of treatment being given the afflicted youngster.

SUNBATHING

H. P. writes: Is sunbathing harmful for a person who is suffering from nervous and muscle exhaustion accompanied by an anxiety neurosis and general nervous tension throughout the body? My heart and blood pressure are in good shape.

REPLY

Not harmful provided the skin can take it; and helpful if the relaxation helps your anxiety.

DIGESTING BANANAS

W. T. writes: Are ripe bananas easy to digest?

REPLY

Yes.

DIET ADDS WEIGHT

Mrs. F. writes: My husband's ulcer diet keeps him overweight. Should he try eating less?

REPLY

This problem confronts many ulcer patients and is difficult to overcome. By eating more frequently but less with each meal, he may not continue to add weight. He ought to try more skim milk and gelatin dishes and rely more upon antacids than on food to bring relief of discomfort.

RADIATION HAZARD

L. W. writes: After reading Dick Tracy's cartoon, I was wondering if radioactive iodine which I was given in a thyroid test will eventually cause the same trouble as little Wingy's?

REPLY

No, because the two products are different. Chester Gould informs me that the material picked up by Wingy is one of the ingredients used in the new phosphorescent paint we see on billboards.

SO, WHAT'S THE MATTER?

Mrs. K. writes: My feet are ice cold first and then they burn. Is this arteries?

REPLY

No, it's capillaries. When the skin is warm the capillaries are filled with blood and when these tiny blood vessels are empty the skin is cold. These blood vessels are sensitive to chanegs in temperature and in mood.

A Word From The New Sponsor

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Taft's Public Housing Work Knifed By Knowland; Los Angeles Gets Special Bonanza; Huey Long's Brother Brings Back Old Kingfish Oratory.

WASHINGTON—The last public function Senator Taft attended was the public housing conference on May 12. With him at the meeting was Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri, Democrat. This was two weeks before the doctors told him on May 26 that he had cancer.

Taft looked all in.

"I shouldn't have come here," he told Hennings. "I seem to be tired all the time. The doctor says I have some kind of anemia. I wouldn't have come at all except that I accepted the invitation a long time ago and I didn't want to let these people down. After all, public housing is one of my babies."

But while Taft lay on his deathbed two months later, his Republican colleagues, led by the man who succeeded him—Knowland of California—did some weird hatchet-work on his housing baby.

Seizing a moment when other slum-clearance senators were absent in New Hampshire attending the funeral of another great Republican, Charles Tobey, the Senate passed by voice vote a bill which drastically reduces the public housing program Taft helped to pioneer; also permits cities which have already started housing programs to back out of them; and finally gives a special bonanza to Los Angeles.

The latter is the most amazing of all. For the bill contains a special rider permitting Los Angeles to get reimbursed at the national taxpayers' expense for about $10,000,000 worth of architects' fees, land, other housing plans which the real estate lobby has now tossed out.

City Of The Angels

The "City of the Angels" had started to clear out Mexican and Negro slums, prepared to build public housing projects under the Taft Housing Act. Then the real estate lobby got busy. After a terrific campaign in which all kinds of money was spent to defeat Mayor Fletcher Bowron, Republican, the real estate lobby elected Congressman Norris Poulson, Republican, as new mayor of the City of the Angels.

Then Poulson came back to Washington, persuaded his two fellow Californians, Senator Knowland and Congressman John Phillips, to tack a special rider on the independent office appropriation bill giving Los Angeles a special bonanza which may run up to $10,000,000.

Amazing fact is that Eisenhower's own housing chief, ex-Congressman Albert Cole of Kansas, gave his O.K. to this special legislation benefiting Los Angeles, as well as to the general drastic scaling down of the Taft housing program.

Huey Long's Brother

Concurrent Senate Resolution 41 was before the House of Representatives. It suspended the deportation of 960 aliens from the U.S.A. Some were married to Americans, some had husbands fighting in Korea, all had been in the United States seven years, all had been investigated by the FBI.

Republican leader Charlie Halleck of Indiana asked that it be passed in a hurry. The bill had passed the Senate, been OK'd by all appropriate committees. Halleck asked for unanimous consent. But Overton Brooks of Louisiana objected—on the ground that certain aliens who deserved no special treatment had been included among those who did.

The debate which GOP leader Halleck sought to avoid was now on.

Striding down the aisle came the brother of the late Huey Long. A dentist by profession, Dr. George Long had seen one brother, Huey, become a U. S. senator, another brother, Earl, become governor, and a nephew, Russell, become a senator. Finally, at the age of 70, he himself was elected to the House.

A big man with a shock of gray hair to match, the freshman congressman from Louisiana strode up to the microphone in the Speaker's well. He wore a dazzling white suit, and his language dazzled the House stenographer with its sizzling, unintelligible eloquence.

Waving his arms, tossing his hair, he struck out against the tactics of the Republican leadership. Those who knew his late brother, the Kingfish, recognized the oratory. But no one, not even the reporter, could quite tell what he was saying, except for one point. He was against the bill.

As Dentist Long turned to leave the microphone, a little man, Congressman Will Neal, Republican, of West Virginia, dressed in conservative gray suit, his sparse hair plastered neatly over his brow, rose.

"Does the gentleman yield?" he asked quietly.

"Of course I yield," bellowed the gentleman from Louisiana. With fire in his eye he swung back to the microphone, looking for an argument.

"You'd better watch your language," squeaked the gentleman from West Virginia and sat down.

The bill passed by a standing vote of 117 to 3.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Sahara Desert

It gives one a queer feeling of a world in constant state of flux to be told that the Sahara Desert is something more than a vast area of sand, traversed by camels ridden by sheiks. Yet, into our modern world, the Sahara moves upon us as a political and economic potential of a high order. It is no longer to be regarded as a desert, but a land of vast and unforetellable possibilities.

The Romans knew something of that and therefore destroyed Carthage. The Mohammedans knew something of that when they conquered the north of Africa from Cairo to Casablanca. But neither Roman nor Arab ever realized how dependent the world would become upon minerals, how the center of political power would be associated with the possession of minerals, that uranium would become more important to the security of a state than gold.

It used to be that the nation that possessed gold was rich. Then coal and iron grew in importance. In this century, copper, lead, zinc, tin, uranium vie with coal and iron in economic and political significance. For instance, the United States obtains practically all of its uranium from Africa and Canada which have therefore taken on an altogether new meaning for this country, as our life as a free people depends upon our access to this mineral.

The Sahara is full of minerals and metals. It is a vast region of nearly 6,000,000 square miles or nearly twice the size of the United States. (There is some difference of opinion as to the actual size of the Sahara, depending upon how the territory is calculated.)

Most of the Sahara is controlled by France and may, in the not too distant historic future, become economically more importan. to France than France itself. In fact, if the French can hold on to the Sahara, particularly to the French protectorates, Tunisia and Morocco, France could be restored to a first-class power which she has not been since 1870. The restoration of France's position could change the balance of power in the world. It could make France the greatest of Western European countries.

The substitution of motorized transportation for the camel and fiery Arab horse can make all the difference in the development of the Sahara, for, while the camel, horse and nomadic flocks of sheep are picturesque, the tractor, jeep, airplane and automobile will change the face of this continent of sand. Nor will life be so dependent upon the oasis, surrounded by palm trees. Modern machinery can be brought in to find and dig wells, not only for water but for oil which is beginning to appear in quantities. Modern irrigation methods can transform wildernesses into agricultural paradises.

I have recently been looking at some figures showing mineral wealth already produced in this region. It runs to copper, iron, manganese, lead, zinc, tin, sulphur, and coal. Manganese is particularly important because it is not readily available for American steel production and every new find proves valuable. Coal is abundant, rising in Algeria from 17,000 tons in 1930 to about 600,000 tons in 1952. In the Moroccan part of the Sahara valuable anthracite mines are being exploited.

Africa is still looked upon as a dark and unknown continent, but it is nothing of the sort. World War II established its tremendous importance as a base for the defense of our country from any European aggressor. In the event of a war with Russia, the United States will more likely be based on Africa than on any country in Europe and the Sahara Desert will be very important to us. Actually, considerable developments of this nature have already taken place

That is one reason for the increased interest in that part of the world and the tremendous impetus that has been given to its exploration in recent years.

Another importance of the Sahara is that once modern methods of irrigation are applied, it will be possible to increase the population of the Sahara, transferring large numbers of Europeans, particularly farmers, from those countries that are vexed with surplus populations for which few solutions are at present available. For instance, migrations of Italians, Spaniards, and even Germans to the Saharan countries may be expected in increasing numbers during the next half century. The movement of Europeans to Africa could alter the social complexion of that continent.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The armistice signed in Korea isn't worth the paper it is written on.

Concrete evidence of the faithlessness of the barbarian Communists who put their signatures on the document now has become known to the world.

For, on April 11, 1953, the Communist command in Korea pledged itself in writing as follows:

"The Korean People's Army and the Chinese People's Volunteers shall deliver sick and injured captured personnel at the rate of approximately 100 a day until delivery of all sick and injured captured personnel to be repatriated by the Korean People's Army and the Chinese People's Volunteers is completed.

"The number of persons actually delivered each day shall be contingent upon the ability of the United Nations Command to receive them, but delivery shall in any case be completed prior to the termination of this agreement."

Deceived By Reds

Another provision stipulated that the agreement was "effective when signed and will terminate 20 days after the commencement of repatriation of sick and injured captured at Panmunjom."

The repatriation began on April 17, and the 20 days were up on May 7. Yet on Tuesday of this week there began an exchange of supposedly healthy prisoners, and the dispatches from Korea tell of the delivery of Americans and South Koreans to our lines in such bad physical condition that their illnesses and their wounds and their weakened bodies plainly could not all have developed since May 7, 1953.

The whole world knows now that the United Nations has been tricked and deceived with respect to the delivery of sick and wounded prisoners.

But what is more significant is that General Mark Clark, Far Eastern commander, has disclosed through a press conference in Washington that, when the Communists declared they had only 3,313 Americans, he had asked Washington to tell him what to do and the word came back to go ahead and accept that figure. At the same time, General Clark reveals, there was information available pointing to the fact that from 2,000 to 3,000 more Americans were being held prisoners. The decision, he says, was made by the U.S. and the U.N. to accept the 3,313 and to make a protest after the armistice agreement was signed.

No word of this was allowed to leak out at the time to the American people or to the peoples of Allied countries. Misleading of public opinion is not infrequent even in the "free world." So anxious was the U.N. apparently to get an armistice at any cost that the policy adopted was to take whatever the Communists offered and hope for the best afterward.

This means, unfortunately, that, if the Communists still hold 2,000 to 3,000 Americans as prisoners, they have played one of the cruelest jokes that a gangster regime in its most fiendish moments could devise. For it suggests that the 2,000 to 3,000 now will be held for ransom and, unless peace terms acceptable to the Communists are granted, the prisoners will never be returned to their homes.

This kind of leverage is understandable among Orientals. The "truce" technique is an old one in China, and the American government should have known by reason of what has happened in China's civil war that a "truce" is merely a device to gain further objectives.

Now the U.N. is faced with a humiliating defeat at the so-called "political conference" before it even begins.

The question is asked: "Should hostilities be renewed when the political conference fails?"

Truce Can Be Won

It isn't at all necessary to resume hostilities. The theory of an enlarged war is one of the invalid assumptions usually attributed to anyone who ventures to suggest that the "cold war" can be won in other ways. It could have been won and can be won provided the Allies are faithful to each other and provided the U.N. is realistic about the difference between fidelity and treason among its members. For an embargo on all trade with the Red Chinese and upon their ally — the Soviet Union — would be pressure enough to force a complete change in the viewpoint of the Communists. Such pressure can be supplemented by a blockade by the navies of the U.N. but, so long as Britain's commercial interests, who apparently control both major parties in England, can insist on trading with the enemy and on the admission of Red China to the Security Council of the U.N., barbarism will have the upper hand in the Communist Far East.

The major powers unquestionably have lost face in Asia by their policies of timidity and appeasement. Any policy they adopt now is bound to be doubly difficult. For it is known everywhere that the attitude of submissiveness by the U.N. arose despite the knowledge its member governments must have had all along about the treatment of prisoners.

Here And Now

Gems

Gemology was not in the curriculum when this writer was in school, hence his education has been sadly neglected in that respect. However, his interest has recently been stimulated by contact with a professional gemologist, the first one he had ever knowingly met.

He was not the professorial, bewhiskered type I had expected to see, but a personable, likable and obliging young man who gave his caller unhurried time in answering questions about his work, taking him into his laboratory and demonstrating the processes and the instruments used for testing and evaluating precious stones. Looking through his giant microscope one could see for himself the differences between natural and synthetic gems—a skill that sometimes leaves experts guessing—and how to detect phonies that sail under false colors.

The popular idea in uninformed circles has been that a gemologist is a double for the old school jeweler, and that "ologist" has been put on as a gloss, much as a barber would be known as a "tonsorial artist," or a dirt farmer as an "agriculturist," or the man who likes to cut bait and fish and tell fishy stories as a "piscatorian."

No Souvenirs

But there was nothing hifalutin about this gemologist. He brought out a tray of vari-colored gems and held them up caressingly one by one, calling each by its given name, remarking its beauty and coloring and its refraction as he rotated it in the bright light. In one specimen all the colors of the rainbow were reflected.

He knew the native lair of each gem, the labors that had produced it, the traditional significance of each birthstone, and what would be an appropriate gift for wife or sweetheart, or for commencement or anniversary occasions.

He didn't give out any souvenirs, and I was too modest to ask for one, but I couldn't help observing that he knew his job and loved it—two important factors for success in all callings. If ever he should choose to run for office, I would be inclined to vote for him if he ran on the Gemocratic ticket. (Sic)

What could be more enchancing to Milady's beauty and charm than a tiara of pearls, or her birthstone set in platinum?

Besides, they are so easy to obtain. All you have to do is to speak a few kind words to the man at the bank, and he will buy them for you, and without your even thinking about it, he will deduct a mere pittance from your balance, if any, at the rate of one carat per month.

Aside from the above inside information some intangibles have been gleaned in passing that the world should know about.

Since learning that oysters containing pearls are inedible, one can have peace of mind and not feel that he must gorge himself with oyster stews in hope that some day he might bite into a pearl of fabulous worth.

If you want luck, wear a garnet. The man who wins the heart and hand of Garnet will be lucky, if she lives up to the tradition of her name, which is "constancy."

If you are a habitue of the cocktail lounge, and can't locate your rabbit's foot at any time, just wear your amethyst, which is said to be a safeguard against any form of intoxication or deep unrest.

Jewels For Friends

If you want to live long, have intelligence and beauty, wear topaz, which is the emblem of staying power in friendships.

The writer lists among his friends the following jewels: Pearl, Ruby, Opal, Garnet and Beryl, all of whom shine with their own luster, and need no external adornment to give them grace and loveliness, unless it be an occasional bit of costume jewelry, which is something else.

If you will dust off your Bible and turn to the book of Revelation you will find in the 21st chapter a list of precious stones that were used in the building of the New Jerusalem which St. John saw in a vision from his high mountain.

Among them were jasper, sapphire, agate, emerald, onyx, sardius (which may have been a variety of chalcedony), crysolite, beryl, topaz, chrysophrase, jacinth and amethyst. Whence came they all? From our familiar earth, sent up by devout hearts from every city, hamlet, and countryside all over the world, to help build the immortal city in which they expect to make their future home.

There are two supreme moments in the life of every individual, both having to do with the joy of discovery. The first is when one unearths a casket of precious gems that have been hidden away unrecognized.

They are worth more than all the gold of Ophir and all the diamonds of Kimberley. One may be as poor as a church mouse, but because these treasures are within him he has great possessions. He can live and grow, and love and pray, and become like God.

The other supreme moment is when one meets his affinity and exclaims, "Where have you been all my life?" That sounds like "bann" music. Later, when husband becomes a man of note, maybe a gemologist, he will say of his wife, "She is worth far more than rubies."

When you seek godly pearls, don't overlook the twin parables of Matthew 13:44-46 about the hidden treasure and the pearl of great price, and be your own exegete.

All metal parts will be cleaned to the bare metal and given one spot coat of red lead iron oxide paint, after which one full coat of gray will be applied to the primed metal surface. A white finish coat will then be applied.

John F. Davis Marries Ada Carol Romaine In N. Y.

Miss Ada Carol Romaine, daughter of Louis B. Romaine, Chester, N. J., became the bride of John F. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Davis, LaVale, August 1.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in the chapel of King's County Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y., with Father Murray officiating. The altar was decorated with bouquets of white flowers and candelabra of lighted tapers, against a background of ferns and palms.

Miss Mary Louise Davis, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, while Robert Davis served as his brother's best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a ballerena length dress of white Chantilly lace, fashioned with a strapless bodice and full skirt. With it she wore a net stole and net half hat. Completing her costume, she carried a traditional bridal bouquet of assorted white flowers.

Her maid of honor's gown was of light blue lace, made similar to the bride's. She also wore blue slippers and hat and pale pink gloves. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Davis chose a black dress with white accessories for her son's wedding, and had a white orchid corsage.

The bride attended Allegany High School and is a graduate of King's County Hospital School of Nursing, Brooklyn.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Allegany High School and Georgetown University School of Foreign Service, Washington. He is employed by the government in Washington.

Following the ceremony Mr. Romaine entertained with a wedding reception honoring his daughter and her bridal party. The bridal motif was carried out in the white flowers and tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For their wedding trip through the Adirondacks the bride wore a Navy blue suit with white accessories. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Davis will make their home in the Naylor Garden Apartments, Washington.

A CHANGE IN VIEW

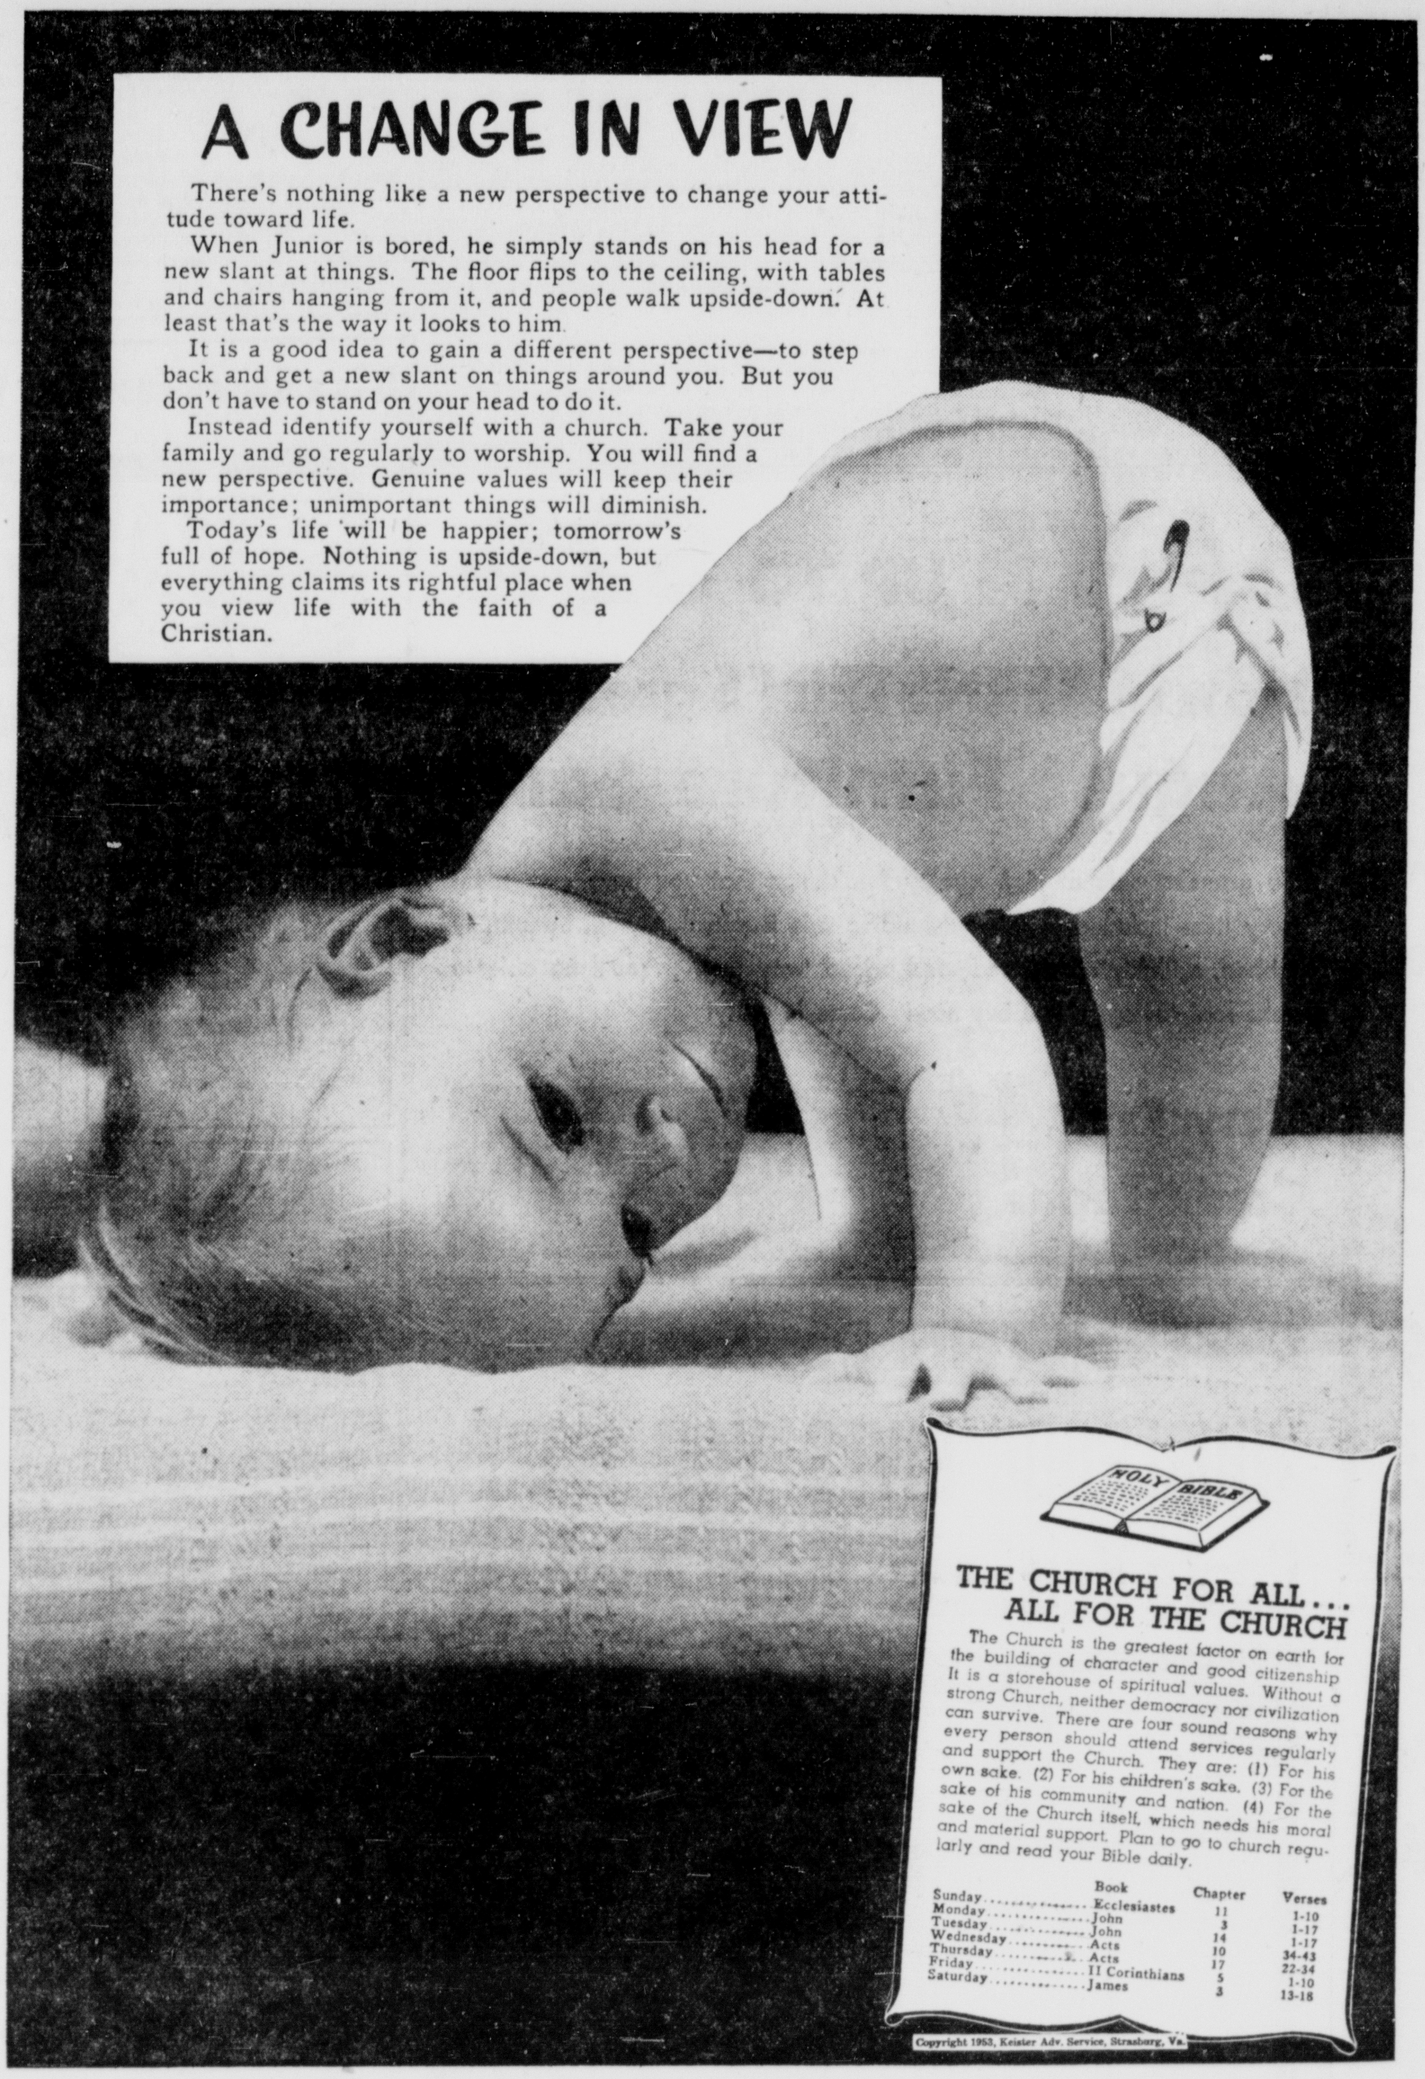

There's nothing like a new perspective to change your attitude toward life.

When Junior is bored, he simply stands on his head for a new slant at things. The floor flips to the ceiling, with tables and chairs hanging from it, and people walk upside-down. At least that's the way it looks to him.

It is a good idea to gain a different perspective—to step back and get a new slant on things around you. But you don't have to stand on your head to do it.

Instead identify yourself with a church. Take your family and go regularly to worship. You will find a new perspective. Genuine values will keep their importance; unimportant things will diminish.

Today's life will be happier; tomorrow's full of hope. Nothing is upside-down, but everything claims its rightful place when you view life with the faith of a Christian.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Ft. Cumberland Post Loses To Silver Spring

Corbin Yields Five Hits; Wicomico Post Puts Cecil Out, 2-1

SALISBURY, Md., Aug. 7 (AP)—George Corbin twirled a five-hit shutout to keep the hopes of defending champion Cissel-Saxon Post of Silver Spring alive tonight in the American Legion Junior baseball playoffs with a 10-0 triumph over Ft. Cumberland.

The decision left each team with a 1-1 record, two losses being required before elimination.

The Cecil Post from Elkton was eliminated earlier in the second round by Wicomico, 2-1. Grantley Post of Baltimore and Morris Frock of Hagerstown met in the late night game.

While Corbin kept Cumberland well in hand, his mates jumped on two opposing pitchers for 10 hits. They knocked Don Paye off the mound for two more in the fifth, three in the seventh and one in the ninth.

The three runs in the first were enough. Dave Stowe and Carrol Hitch started off with singles and Roland Havicht followed with a double for the first run. Bill Overman and Jay Soloman drew walks and Dick Brown's single scored two more.

Cecil Eliminated

SALISBURY, Md., Aug. 7 (AP) — Pitcher Don Kimbro's 10th inning single, only the second hit of the game for his team, scored the winning run today as Wicomico eliminated Cecil from the American Legion junior baseball playoffs, 2-1.

The blow by Kimbro scoring Norman Webster spoiled a brilliant hurling effort by his opponent, Arnold Sten. Sten had held Wicomico hitless and scoreless for eight innings and fanned 16.

It was the second loss for the Elkton team in the playoffs which started with six teams on a double loss elimination system.

It was a pitcher's duel between Kimbro and Sten. For five innings neither gave up a hit.

Start of the game was delayed for two hours by rain.

BOSTON, Aug. 7 (AP) — Despite batting in three runs himself, Lefty Mel Parnell needed almost a baseball miracle to gain his first Fenway Park decision over the Cleveland Indians in almost four seasons tonight by a 4-2 margin.

Wolford Belts Two Home Runs, Dan Stars Win

Dappers Beaten, 7-5; 1,000 Witness Game

Gary Wolford, pitcher-catcher of the Braves, pounded two home runs last night as the Dans, managed by Tom Seifert (Tigers) and Sonny Shaffer (Braves) defeated the Dappers by the score of 7-5 in the Dapper Dan Baseball League's All-Star game at Penn Avenue Field.

Approximately 1,000 persons witnessed the smallfry classic.

Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, acted as master of ceremonies at the pre-game exercises, and talks were given by Judge George Henderson and Robert E. Pence, director of the City Recreation Department. A skit depicting police arresting managers for neglecting their wives and families at night for Dapper Dan games ended with the managers being sentenced to one year of the same thing.

Wolford, who belted two homers, and Garlitz, who hit for the circuit for the Dappers in the second inning, won baseballs that will be autographed by Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, who was unable to be present.

Wolford, Charley "Chazz" Imes of the Tigers and Reed of the Athletics twirled for the victorious Dans while Carl "Whitey" Slonaker, Red Sox, Gary Shuck, Cardinals and Page of the Giants toiled on the rubber for the Dappers who were managed by Jim Wilson and Joe Felten.

George Day Is Ready For 16th All-American Soap Box Derby

Cumberland Champion Vies With 127 Others At Akron Tomorrow

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 7—(Special To The News)—George Day this morning "prepped" for his big day in the 16th All-American Soap Box Derby by piloting his black "Doodlebug" coaster down world-famous Derby Downs in a test run.

The 15-year-old Cumberland champ was the 25th youngster to get the green flag in the practice runs. He started down the 975-foot course at 11:30 a. m. with 127 other champs from all over the United States, as well as winners from Canada, Alaska, British Columbia and West Germany scheduled to follow.

Prior to his run, George weighed in at topside, the scales showing 249 pounds, just one pound under the maximum weight permitted by All-American rules. The serious-minded Cumberland youngster descended on the center lane, and as was the case when he won his home-town derby on July 11, he drove his car straight as an arrow.

Day Passes Inspection

George passed his inspection with flying colors and after his trial run, he immediately began to "work in" his wheels in anticipation of the big day Sunday when "everything counts."

The Frederick Street boy posed for a picture with his two opponents in heat No. 24 Sunday — Peter Beckwith of Columbus, Ohio, and Kenneth Ridge of Trenton, N. J. After that, the boys took off for lunch, then George went back to work on his car.

Trial runs ended about 5 p. m., and the champions were taken back to Camp Derbytown where a big swim was scheduled before supper. The evening program included a treasure hunt and fireworks. Tomorrow, Day and the other champions will meet a lot of celebrities from the movie, television and sports world. Captain Video and the ranger of Dumont TV fame will appear in person at Derbytown.

Dinah Shore, the TV and radio songstress, and her husband, movie actor George Montgomery, will be there, as will Andy Devine, gravel-voiced star of movies and radio, and Don Ameche, another well-known movie and television actor.

Derby Is Set For 2 p. m.

The big parade which precedes the derby itself is scheduled to start at 1:15 p. m. Sunday. The oil can trophy race, an event featuring Devine, Montgomery and Ameche, will get off at 1:45, Joe Lunn, the 12-year-old Columbus, (Georgia) boy, will again pilot his "Ramblin' Wreck" which carried him to victory in the All-American Derby last year. This exhibition run is slated for 1:52 and eight minutes later, the 1953 derby will be under way.

Champion Day, who carries the colors of Cumberland's Times-News in Sunday's derby, is scheduled to arrive back home sometime Monday.

Umpires Stage Walkout, Protection Is Demanded

Showdown Is Set For Monday Night

No games were staged in the County Softball League yesterday because the Tri-State Umpires Association pulled a switch and decided there is no use of its members risking injury at the hands of disgruntled fans and griping players, a condition that has prevailed in both the County and Rocking Chair Leagues this season.

George Rice, president of the association, has called a meeting of presidents and managers of all teams in both leagues for Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Loyal Order of Moose Home for the purpose of getting assurance that umpires will be given adequate police protection at all games for the remainder of the season.

The Tri-State Umpires Association reports there will be no more umpiring assignments made unless an understanding is reached at Monday's session.

Trouble flared on Tuesday at Triple Lakes during the Central Lunch-Potomac Valley game when an irate fan threw a body block on Umpire "Chick" Snider who was working behind the plate.

At the Toler benefit game Wednesday, two members of the Potomac Valley team are alleged to have created a rhubarb after disputing a play called by Snider at third base. Both protestants were tossed out of the game but President Earl Nonnenmann is reported to have ordered them reinstated.

Members of the umpires' association have repeatedly protested the conduct of several Amvets players in the Rocking Chair League who have made a habit of protesting decisions and threatened the arbiters.

The association called it quits yesterday and the showdown is set for Monday night.

Wiley Ford Beats Schute's, 2-0, Cops Softball Series

Leo Rhodes tossed a one-hitter yesterday as Wiley Ford won the "rubber" game of its three-game series with Schute's Roofers of the Cumberland Recreation League by beating the latter yesterday at Wiley Ford by the score of 2-0.

Carl Long collected two of the seven hits credited to the Mineral County Softball League team.

Score:

Mosely Gets 8-Year Contract From VPI

BLACKSBURG, Va., Aug. 7 (AP)—Virginia Tech officials today announced they had torn up Athletic Director and Football Coach Frank Mosely's old contract, signed him to a new eight-year pact and settled on a big-time athletic policy apparently aimed at ultimate membership in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The action came at a recent meeting of the VPI Board of Visitors, Dr. Walter S. Newman said. But the VPI president shied away from any direct comment on the reasons behind the move.

The Rabbit Died In All Star Game

AP Newsfeatures

BROOKLYN, N. Y. — Before the All-Star baseball game in Cincinnati people were talking about the small playing area of Crosley Field. They began talking in terms of breaking the All-Star home run record of six set in Detroit's Briggs Stadium in 1941.

"None was hit in Cincinnati," says Fresco Thompson, Brooklyn Dodger vice-president who is director of the major league club's farm system.

"It just goes to prove that good pitching can take the life out of the rabbit ball," says Thompson.

Abner Powell Dies

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 7 (AP) — Abner Powell, who originated the baseball rain check and Ladies' Day, died today. He was 92.

Known as New Orleans' "Father of Baseball," Powell came here in 1887 as player-manager of the New Orleans Pelicans.

Oliver Grabs Lead In Pro Golf Tourney

Porky Pacing Field Of 83 With 135 As Worsham Collapses

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP) —Ed (Porky) Oliver, shooting a five-under-par 67, out-golfed a collapsing Lew Worsham in a late afternoon downpour to capture the halfway lead in the $75,000 "World" pro tourney today by two strokes at 135.

That put Porky nine under par for 36 holes.

Worsham, aping his blow-up in the final round of last year's World, staggered to three one-over-pars between the 14th and 17th greens. He wound up with a 72 after yestday's pace-setting 65 and a 36-hole total of 137.

Worsham was roaring along 12 under par through today's 12th hole, or 30 holes for the tourney, when he nervously came apart.

Oliver carved Tam O'Shanter's par 36-36—72 course for a splendid 33-34 after opening yesterday with a 68.

Misses 6-Foot Putt

So hard-pressed was Worsham, the last of the 83-player pro field to finish, that he used a putter from well off the green on the 18th, went poorly over a hump, and then missed a six-foot putt for a closing one-over-par five.

The "World" top prize is $25,000, golf's biggest purse.

The reeling Worsham, who last year also blew up on the back stretch, shared the 137 second spot with Dave Douglas and Bob Toski. Worsham had five one-over-pars in a wretched closing 39 after opening with 33.

Harper Posts 138

Notched at 138, three strokes off the pace, was Chandler Harper with a second straight 69.

Four players were notched at 139, including Jack Burke, Al Besselink, Freddie Haas and Skee Riegel.

Oliver, 220-pound husky from Palm Springs, Calif., one of pro golf's most popular players, flashed a fine all-around game in his bid to virtually triple the $12,326 he has earned this year.

He chipped to within five feet and ran down the putt for a birdie four on the 495-yard second and nudged home putts of eight and 12 feet for birds on the 250-yard eighth and 520-yard ninth.

Porky's last triumph was in the Kansas City Open two weeks ago with a record 269.

Stranahan Cops Lead

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, seeking his fourth straight World amateur crown, slammed a fine 67 for a 138 total, five strokes ahead of Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., first round leader, who took a 73 today. The World amateur women's leader with 161 was Wiffi Smith of Guadalajara, Mex.

In all, 31 men pros finished under par 144 for the 36-hole distance.

Tied at 140 were defending champion Julius Boros, Cary Middlecoff, who lost a title playoff to Boros last year; Tommy Bolt, Jimmy Demaret and Ted Kroll, who was yesterday's runnerup with 67.

MONMOUTH PARK, Oceanport, N. J., Aug. 7 (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone drew his second 10-day suspension of the meet today when the stewards charged him with careless riding leaving the gate in the seventh race while astride Rock Dozer. The suspension is effective from Aug. 10 through Aug. 20th.

Jaycees Crack Lions Club Long Victory String, 11-5

Clinch Playoff Spot In Hot Stove League

Manager Sherman Weatherholt's Jaycees clinched a spot in the Hot Stove Baseball League playoffs by cracking the 7-game winning streak of the Lions Club yesterday at Penn Avenue Field. The score was 11-5.

The Jaycees now hold fourth place with a 12-8 record, 2½ games ahead of the fifth place Optimists and a half game back of the third place Lions.

The Lions started out like a house afire by scoring three runs in the opening frame on Kenny Johnson's single, an error and triples by Hillegas and Valentine. Thereafter the Lions were held hitless but they managed to score another run in the fifth on a walk, stolen base and error.

Eleven Jaycees stepped to the plate in the big third when they sewed up the game with a six-run outburst. In this frame the Jaycees coupled four hits with two errors. Three successive hits netted a run in the second while two more markers were registered in the fifth and a like number in the sixth.

Charles Often, Jaycees' left fielder, had two doubles and a single while Tommy Dunbar smacked a two-bagger and single. Parsons fanned nine Lions. The Jaycees collected five doubles while the Lions larruped two triples. Score:

Atlantic Coast Conference Bars 14 Cage Players

North Carolina State Placed On Probation

GREENSBORO, N. C., Aug. 7 (AP)—The Atlantic Coast Conference tonight barred 14 athletes from competition at North Carolina State College and placed the school on probation for one year for violation of conference and NCAA rules concerning tryouts.

After going into executive session for some three hours, the conference announced its decision in the case, which the NCAA had called to the attention of conference commissioner Wallace Wade and North Carolina State College.

The conference announced that the college was in violation of two rules. Fourteen athletes were brought to Raleigh for basketball tryouts last spring. This in itself constituted a violation. In addition, their expenses to Raleigh were paid contrary to the rule.

The conference did not release the names of those involved, saying that it did not feel the boys should be punished but rather that the action was being taken against the school.

The year's probation carries no penalties or restrictions on state college aside from the fact that it will be under surveillance.

Col. Jacoby Wins At Mt. Lake Park

Rain Slows Tourney, May Run Past Sunday

OAKLAND, Md., Aug. 7 (AP) — It was youth versus age today in the feature match of the rain-plagued Western Maryland Tennis Championships at nearby Mt. Lake Park.

Col. Alfred Jacoby, of the Australian Embassy in Washington, maintained beautiful placements and a steady game in defeating young John Fraser of St. Augustine, Fla., 6-2, 6-1, in one of five matches squeezed in between intermittent showers that have held up play since the tournament opened Tuesday.

Officials now feel the tournament will run into Sunday and even then only the men's and women's singles and the mixed doubles will be completed.

In the other matches today:

Gene Nolan, Baltimore, defeated Roger Gibson, Oakland, 6-1, 6-1.

Mrs. Robert Ewing, Wheeling, W. Va., defeated Mrs. James Parran, Baltimore, 6-2, 6-2.

Lettie Ewing, Wheeling, defeated Cynthia Bishop, Wheeling, 6-0, 6-0.

Mrs. Wanda Naylor, Baltimore, defeated Jean Bishop, Wheeling, 6-3, 6-0.

Marrero Of Nats Blanks Browns, 12-0

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Chico Marrero held the St. Louis Browns to three hits tonight as Washington blasted three pitchers for a 12-0 victory on an 11-hit attack that included Clyde Vollmer's seventh home run.

Marrero pitched the seventh shutout in the last eight games at Griffith Stadium in notching his seventh win.

Vollmer smashed his homer in the second inning off veteran Harry Brecheen, who was chased when the Senators erupted for three runs in the fourth. They splurged for five runs in the fifth against Mike Blyzka, who yielded three more runs in the sixth.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies needed just two hit and run innings to defeat the Chicago Cubs a thirteenth time in 14 games, 5-4, before 4,499 today.

The third placers scored three times in the second on four hits, and added a final pair of runs in the sixth on another four hit explosion.

The Phillies scored all of their runs before Ralph Kiner used his No. 27 home run behind Tommy Brown's lead off single in the sixth to power the Cubs into the scoring column the first time.

Three Homers Help New York To Defeat Sox

Mantle, Berra, Martin Connect And Champs Lead By Six Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP)—Home runs by Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra and Billy Martin gave the New York Yankees a 6-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox today in the opening game of their important series at Yankee Stadium.

The triumph increased the Yanks' lead over the second place Sox to six games.

Lefty Ed Lopat was the winning pitcher although he was relieved by Allie Reynolds at the start of the eighth when his arm seemed to stiffen in the cool weather. He gave up six hits in seven innings, Reynolds allowed 2 in two.

Chicago Manager Paul Richards, his pitching staff depleted by overwork, gambled with a rookie righthander, Connie Johnson, but Johnson was removed for the veteran Gene Bearden after Mantle and Berra hit back-to-back home runs for four runs in the third.

Mantle's homer, his 16th, was a three-run inside-the-park blow.

Berra's 18th homer of the year was a drive into the lower right field stands while Martin connected in the eighth with a drive into the lower leftfield stands.

A crowd of 27,063 paid to see the opening of the four-game series between the league leaders and closest challengers. A doubleheader is scheduled tomorrow with a single game ending the series Sunday.

Ft. Cumberland Post Loses To Silver Spring

Corbin Yields Five Hits; Wicomico Post Puts Cecil Out, 2-1

SALISBURY, Md., Aug. 7 (AP)—George Corbin twirled a five-hit shutout to keep the hopes of defending champion Cissel-Saxon Post of Silver Spring alive tonight in the American Legion Junior baseball playoffs with a 10-0 triumph over Ft. Cumberland.

The decision left each team with a 1-1 record, two losses being required before elimination.

The Cecil Post from Elkton was eliminated earlier in the second round by Wicomico, 2-1. Grantley Post of Baltimore and Morris Frock of Hagerstown met in the late night game.

While Corbin kept Cumberland well in hand, his mates jumped on two opposing pitchers for 10 hits. They knocked Don Paye off the mound for two more in the fifth, three in the seventh and one in the ninth.

The three runs in the first were enough. Dave Stowe and Carrol Hitch started off with singles and Roland Havicht followed with a double for the first run. Bill Overman and Jay Soloman drew walks and Dick Brown's single scored two more.

Cecil Eliminated

SALISBURY, Md., Aug. 7 (AP)—Pitcher Don Kimbro's 10th inning single, only the second hit of the game for his team, scored the winning run today as Wicomico eliminated Cecil from the American Legion junior baseball playoffs, 2-1.

The blow by Kimbro scoring Norman Webster spoiled a brilliant hurling effort by his opponent, Arnold Sten. Sten had held Wicomico hitless and scoreless for eight innings and fanned 16.

It was the second loss for the Elkton team in the playoffs which started with six teams on a double loss elimination system.

It was a pitcher's duel between Kimbro and Sten. For five innings neither gave up a hit.

Start of the game was delayed for two hours by rain.

BOSTON, Aug. 7 (AP) — Despite batting in three runs himself, Lefty Mel Parnell needed almost a baseball miracle to gain his first Fenway Park decision over the Cleveland Indians in almost four seasons tonight by a 4-2 margin.

A brilliant relief stint by veteran Ellis Kinder and a spectacular defensive play by right fielder Jim Piersall insured Parnell's 15th victory against seven losses.

Wolford Belts Two Home Runs, Dan Stars Win

Dappers Beaten, 7-5; 1,000 Witness Game

Gary Wolford, pitcher-catcher of the Braves, pounded two home runs last night as the Dans, managed by Tom Seifert (Tigers) and Sonny Shaffer (Braves) defeated the Dappers by the score of 7-5 in the Dapper Dan Baseball League's All-Star game at Penn Avenue Field.

Approximately 1,000 persons witnessed the smallfry classic.

Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, acted as master of ceremonies at the pre-game exercises, and talks were given by Judge George Henderson and Robert E. Pence, director of the City Recreation Department. A skit depicting police arresting managers for neglecting their wives and families at night for Dapper Dan games ended with the managers being sentenced to one year of the same thing.

Wolford, who belted two homers, and Garlitz, who hit for the circuit for the Dappers in the second inning, won baseballs that will be autographed by Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, who was unable to be present.

Wolford, Charley "Chazz" Imes of the Tigers and Reed of the Athletics twirled for the victorious Dans while Carl "Whitey" Slonaker, Red Sox, Gary Shuck, Cardinals and Page of the Giants toiled on the rubber for the Dappers who were managed by Jim Wilson and Joe Felten.

George Day Is Ready For 16th All-American Soap Box Derby

Cumberland Champion Vies With 127 Others At Akron Tomorrow

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 7—(Special To The News)—George Day this morning "prepped" for his big day in the 16th All-American Soap Box Derby by piloting his black "Doodlebug" coaster down world-famous Derby Downs in a test run.

The 15-year-old Cumberland champ was the 25th youngster to get the green flag in the practice runs. He started down the 975-foot course at 11:30 a. m. with 127 other champs from all over the United States, as well as winners from Canada, Alaska, British Columbia and West Germany scheduled to follow.

Prior to his run, George weighed in at topside, the scales showing 249 pounds, just one pound under the maximum weight permitted by All-American rules. The serious-minded Cumberland youngster descended on the center lane, and as was the case when he won his home-town derby on July 11, he drove his car straight as an arrow.

Day Passes Inspection

George passed his inspection with flying colors and after his trial run, he immediately began to "work in" his wheels in anticipation of the big day Sunday when "everything counts."

The Frederick Street boy posed for a picture with his two opponents in heat No. 24 Sunday — Peter Beckwith of Columbus, Ohio, and Kenneth Ridge of Trenton, N. J. After that, the boys took off for lunch, then George went back to work on his car.

Trial runs ended about 5 p. m., and the champions were taken back to Camp Derbytown where a big swim was scheduled before supper. The evening program included a treasure hunt and fireworks. Tomorrow, Day and the other champions will meet a lot of celebrities from the movie, television and sports world. Captain Video and the ranger of Dumont TV fame will appear in person at Derbytown.

Dinah Shore, the TV and radio songstress, and her husband, movie actor George Montgomery, will be there, as will Andy Devine, gravel-voiced star of movies and radio, and Don Ameche, another well-known movie and television actor.

Derby Is Set For 2 p. m.

The big parade which precedes the derby itself is scheduled to start at 1:15 p. m. Sunday. The oil can trophy race, an event featuring Devine, Montgomery and Ameche, will get off at 1:45, Joe Lunn, the 12-year-old Columbus, (Georgia) boy, will again pilot his "Ramblin' Wreck" which carried him to victory in the All-American Derby last year. This exhibition run is slated for 1:52 and eight minutes later, the 1953 derby will be under way.

Champion Day, who carries the colors of Cumberland's Times-News in Sunday's derby, is scheduled to arrive back home sometime Monday.

Showdown Is Set For Monday Night

No games were staged in the County Softball League yesterday because the Tri-State Umpires Association pulled a switch and decided there is no use of its members risking injury at the hands of disgruntled fans and griping players, a condition that has prevailed in both the County and Rocking Chair Leagues this season.

George Rice, president of the association, has called a meeting of presidents and managers of all teams in both leagues for Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Loyal Order of Moose Home for the purpose of getting assurance that umpires will be given adequate police protection at all games for the remainder of the season.

The Tri-State Umpires Association reports there will be no more umpiring assignments made unless an understanding is reached at Monday's session.

Trouble flared on Tuesday at Triple Lakes during the Central Lunch-Potomac Valley game when an irate fan threw a body block on Umpire "Chick" Snider who was working behind the plate.

At the Toler benefit game Wednesday, two members of the Potomac Valley team are alleged to have created a rhubarb after disputing a play called by Snider at third base. Both protestants were tossed out of the game but President Earl Nonnenmann is reported to have ordered them reinstated.

Members of the umpires' association have repeatedly protested the conduct of several Amvets players in the Rocking Chair League who have made a habit of protesting decisions and threatened the arbiters.

The association called it quits yesterday and the showdown is set for Monday night.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 7 (AP) — Abner Powell, who originated the baseball rain check and Ladies' Day, died today. He was 92.

Wiley Ford Beats Schute's, 2-0, Cops Softball Series

Leo Rhodes tossed a one-hitter yesterday as Wiley Ford won the "rubber" game of its three-game series with Schute's Roofers of the Cumberland Recreation League by beating the latter yesterday at Wiley Ford by the score of 2-0.

Carl Long collected two of the seven hits credited to the Mineral County Softball League team.

Mosely Gets 8-Year Contract From VPI

BLACKSBURG, Va., Aug. 7 (AP)—Virginia Tech officials today announced they had torn up Athletic Director and Football Coach Frank Mosely's old contract, signed him to a new eight-year pact and settled on a big-time athletic policy apparently aimed at ultimate membership in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The action came at a recent meeting of the VPI Board of Visitors, Dr. Walter S. Newman said. But the VPI president shied away from any direct comment on the reasons behind the move.

The Rabbit Died In All Star Game

AP Newsfeatures

BROOKLYN, N. Y. — Before the All-Star baseball game in Cincinnati people were talking about the small playing area of Crosley Field. They began talking in terms of breaking the All-Star home run record of six set in Detroit's Briggs Stadium in 1941.

"None was hit in Cincinnati," says Fresco Thompson, Brooklyn Dodger vice-president who is director of the major league club's farm system.

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP) —Ed (Porky) Oliver, shooting a five-under-par 67, out-golfed a collapsing Lew Worsham in a late afternoon downpour to capture the halfway lead in the $75,000 "World" pro tourney today by two strokes at 135.

That put Porky nine under par for 36 holes.

Worsham, aping his blow-up in the final round of last year's World, staggered to three one-over-pars between the 14th and 17th greens. He wound up with a 72 after yestday's pace-setting 65 and a 36-hole total of 137.

Worsham was roaring along 12 under par through today's 12th hole, or 30 holes for the tourney, when he nervously came apart.

Oliver carved Tam O'Shanter's par 36-36—72 course for a splendid 33-34 after opening yesterday with a 68.

Misses 6-Foot Putt

So hard-pressed was Worsham, the last of the 83-player pro field to finish, that he used a putter from well off the green on the 18th, went poorly over a hump, and then missed a six-foot putt for a closing one-over-par five.

The "World" top prize is $25,000, golf's biggest purse.

The reeling Worsham, who last year also blew up on the back stretch, shared the 137 second spot with Dave Douglas and Bob Toski. Worsham had five one-over-pars in a wretched closing 39 after opening with 33.

Harper Posts 138

Notched at 138, three strokes off the pace, was Chandler Harper with a second straight 69.

Four players were notched at 139, including Jack Burke, Al Besselink, Freddie Haas and Skee Riegel.

Oliver, 220-pound husky from Palm Springs, Calif., one of pro golf's most popular players, flashed a fine all-around game in his bid to virtually triple the $12,326 he has earned this year.

He chipped to within five feet and ran down the putt for a birdie four on the 495-yard second and nudged home putts of eight and 12 feet for birds on the 250-yard eighth and 520-yard ninth.

Porky's last triumph was in the Kansas City Open two weeks ago with a record 269.

Stranahan Cops Lead

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, seeking his fourth straight World amateur crown, slammed a fine 67 for a 138 total, five strokes ahead of Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., first round leader, who took a 73 today. The World amateur women's leader with 161 was Wiffi Smith of Guadalajara, Mex.

In all, 31 men pros finished under par 144 for the 36-hole distance.

Tied at 140 were defending champion Julius Boros, Cary Middlecoff, who lost a title playoff to Boros last year; Tommy Bolt, Jimmy Demaret and Ted Kroll, who was yesterday's runnerup with 67.

MONMOUTH PARK, Oceanport, N. J., Aug. 7 (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone drew his second 10-day suspension of the meet today when the stewards charged him with careless riding leaving the gate in the seventh race while astride Rock Dozer. The suspension is effective from Aug. 10 through Aug. 20th.

Jaycees Crack Lions Club Long Victory String, 11-5

Clinch Playoff Spot In Hot Stove League

Manager Sherman Weatherholt's Jaycees clinched a spot in the Hot Stove Baseball League playoffs by cracking the 7-game winning streak of the Lions Club yesterday at Penn Avenue Field. The score was 11-5.

The Jaycees now hold fourth place with a 12-8 record, 2½ games ahead of the fifth place Optimists and a half game back of the third place Lions.

The Lions started out like a house afire by scoring three runs in the opening frame on Kenny Johnson's single, an error and triples by Hillegas and Valentine. Thereafter the Lions were held hitless but they managed to score another run in the fifth on a walk, stolen base and error.

Eleven Jaycees stepped to the plate in the big third when they sewed up the game with a six-run outburst. In this frame the Jaycees coupled four hits with two errors. Three successive hits netted a run in the second while two more markers were registered in the fifth and a like number in the sixth.

Charles Often, Jaycees' left fielder, had two doubles and a single while Tommy Dunbar smacked a two-bagger and single. Parsons fanned nine Lions. The Jaycees collected five doubles while the Lions larruped two triples. Score:

Atlantic Coast Conference Bars 14 Cage Players

North Carolina State Placed On Probation

GREENSBORO, N. C., Aug. 7 (AP)—The Atlantic Coast Conference tonight barred 14 athletes from competition at North Carolina State College and placed the school on probation for one year for violation of conference and NCAA rules concerning tryouts.

After going into executive session for some three hours, the conference announced its decision in the case, which the NCAA had called to the attention of conference commissioner Wallace Wade and North Carolina State College.

The conference announced that the college was in violation of two rules. Fourteen athletes were brought to Raleigh for basketball tryouts last spring. This in itself constituted a violation. In addition, their expenses to Raleigh were paid contrary to the rule.

The conference did not release the names of those involved, saying that it did not feel the boys should be punished but rather that the action was being taken against the school.

The year's probation carries no penalties or restrictions on state college aside from the fact that it will be under surveillance.

Col. Jacoby Wins At Mt. Lake Park

Rain Slows Tourney, May Run Past Sunday

OAKLAND, Md., Aug. 7 (AP) — It was youth versus age today in the feature match of the rain-plagued Western Maryland Tennis Championships at nearby Mt. Lake Park.

Col. Alfred Jacoby, of the Australian Embassy in Washington, maintained beautiful placements and a steady game in defeating young John Fraser of St. Augustine, Fla., 6-2, 6-1, in one of five matches squeezed in between intermittent showers that have held up play since the tournament opened Tuesday.

Officials now feel the tournament will run into Sunday and even then only the men's and women's singles and the mixed doubles will be completed.

Gene Nolan, Baltimore, defeated Roger Gibson, Oakland, 6-1, 6-1.

Mrs. Robert Ewing, Wheeling, W. Va., defeated Mrs. James Parran, Baltimore, 6-2, 6-2.

Lettie Ewing, Wheeling, defeated Cynthia Bishop, Wheeling, 6-0, 6-0.

Mrs. Wanda Naylor, Baltimore, defeated Jean Bishop, Wheeling, 6-3, 6-0.

Marrero Of Nats Blanks Browns, 12-0

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Chico Marrero held the St. Louis Browns to three hits tonight as Washington blasted three pitchers for a 12-0 victory on an 11-hit attack that included Clyde Vollmer's seventh home run.

Marrero pitched the seventh shutout in the last eight games at Griffith Stadium in notching his seventh win.

Vollmer smashed his homer in the second inning off veteran Harry Brecheen, who was chased when the Senators erupted for three runs in the fourth. They splurged for five runs in the fifth against Mike Blyzka, who yielded three more runs in the sixth.

Phillies Defeat Cubs Thirteenth Time, 5-4

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies needed just two hit and run innings to defeat the Chicago Cubs a thirteenth time in 14 games, 5-4, before 4,499 today.

The third placers scored three times in the second on four hits, and added a final pair of runs in the sixth on another four hit explosion.

Three Homers Help New York To Defeat Sox

Mantle, Berra, Martin Connect And Champs Lead By Six Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP)—Home runs by Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra and Billy Martin gave the New York Yankees a 6-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox today in the opening game of their important series at Yankee Stadium.

The triumph increased the Yanks' lead over the second place Sox to six games.

Lefty Ed Lopat was the winning pitcher although he was relieved by Allie Reynolds at the start of the eighth when his arm seemed to stiffen in the cool weather. He gave up six hits in seven innings, Reynolds allowed 2 in two.

Chicago Manager Paul Richards, his pitching staff depleted by overwork, gambled with a rookie righthander, Connie Johnson, but Johnson was removed for the veteran Gene Bearden after Mantle and Berra hit back-to-back home runs for four runs in the third.

Berra's 18th homer of the year was a drive into the lower right field stands while Martin connected in the eighth with a drive into the lower leftfield stands.

Rosewall And Hoad Top Trabert, Mulloy

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J., Aug. 7 (AP) — Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia today suffered his first defeat since he left England when he was upset in the quarterfinal round of the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships by 23-year-old Rex Hartwig of Australia.

Hartwig, playing beautiful tennis, stopped the top-seeded American star, 9-11, 6-3, 7-5. Two other Australians, Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad, also won semifinal berths. Rosewall topped Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, 6-4, 7-5, while Hoad upset Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla., 4-6, 8-6, 6-1.

Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, the only American remaining in the play, didn't have too much trouble capturing the fourth semi-final spot when he ousted Noel Brown of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2.

Herman To Race At Bedford Fair

BEDFORD, Pa., Aug. 7 — Up-and-coming Al Herman, of Allentown, has his speed sights set on the Auto Races coming to the Bedford Fair on Saturday, August 15.

A heat race winner last weekend at the Kent & Sussex County Fair, Harrington, Del., Herman is after bigger game here. He drives a $10,000 Offenhauser.

The Allentown chauffeur, who made his debut at the Indianapolis 500-mile race this year, plans to carry the speed war to "name" rivals at the Fair. Among those he out-streaked at Harrington was Tommy Hinnershitz, four-times eastern champion of Reading. Hinnershitz later turned the tables by winning the feature event.

Along with a 20-lap headliner, the local fair bill includes four qualifying heat races and opening qualifying time trials.

Combat Boots Will Oppose Tom Fool

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—Tom Fool, the handicap champion, scared all of them away again today excepting one. Only the Putnam Stable's Combat Boots was entered against Tom Fool for tomorrow's 25,000-added Whitney Stakes.

The Greentree Stable ace won the Wilson Mile here last Tuesday by eight lengths, easily beating his only rival, Alfred Vanderbilt's Indian Land. No betting was allowed then, and there will be none in the race tomorrow.

Rosewall And Hoad Top Trabert, Mulloy

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J., Aug. 7 (AP) — Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia today suffered his first defeat since he left England when he was upset in the quarterfinal round of the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships by 23-year-old Rex Hartwig of Australia.

Hartwig, playing beautiful tennis, stopped the top-seeded American star, 9-11, 6-3, 7-5. Two other Australians, Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad, also won semifinal berths. Rosewall topped Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, 6-4, 7-5, while Hoad upset Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla., 4-6, 8-6, 6-1.

Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, the only American remaining in the play, didn't have too much trouble capturing the fourth semifinal spot when he ousted Noel Brown of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT STARTS—Surveyors are shown at work locating the center line on a sweeping curve of the Vale Summit Road in the one-mile strip between Miller and Midland which has not yet been improved. Two sections of the road have been altered and resurfaced since the $1,000,000 project was started several years ago. The first phase was from Clarysville to Vale Summit. Then came the stretch from Vale Summit to Miller. State Roads Commission officials report that the Miller-to-Midland job will not require major rebuilding because the road is considered in fairly good condition.

Piedmont POW Released By Reds

The first of 15 area soldiers who were held as prisoners of war by the Communists in Korea has been released. Pfc. Donald C. Stewart of 104 Erin Street, Piedmont, was among 90 American GIs turned over to Allied authority in Thursday's prisoner exchange.

Pfc. Stewart, who resided with his aunt, Mrs. Frank Freeman of 104 Erin Street, Piedmont, prior to his enlistment in the Army in May of 1950, was first reported missing November 29, 1950. The Defense Department never officially listed him as a prisoner of war although letters were received at the rate of three a week by his aunt.

The Piedmont soldier was held captive in Prison Camp No. 5 at Pyoktong, near the Manchurian border. He, along with three other GIs released yesterday, told of conditions in his camp.

The spokesman for this particular group, Cpl. James Davis of Bradshaw, Md., told Allied officials that three Negro GIs received special treatment from the Communists and were expected to refuse being in the prisoner exchange. Of the three, Cpl. Davis said:

Pfc. Stewart, who is also a Negro, wrote often to his aunt in Piedmont, describing conditions to which he was subjected, and answering letters which she sent him.

He told his aunt that he was well-treated and once mentioned that he had gained 25 pounds since his capture. His last letter to his aunt was a Christmas greeting which she received in March. In this letter, Donald said that the Communists had given him candy, cigarettes and other luxuries to which he was unaccustomed to receiving.

Pfc. Stewart once wrote the Evening Times telling of his imprisonment, however, the Department of Defense was unable to confirm this through Communist prisoner lists.

The West Virginia soldier, who was 18 when he enlisted, may get a chance to celebrate his 21st birthday at home, that date falling on September 6 of this year.

Pfc. Stewart's mother, Mrs. Isabelle F. Jackson, resides at 5415 Ward Street, Cincinnati.

He attended Howard High School in Piedmont and was a member of the basketball team. He resided with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart, until their deaths. He then took up residence with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Freeman. His uncle died while he was a prisoner.

He received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and then went to Korea where he was captured in fierce fighting in November of 1950.

Mrs. Freeman stated that she was becoming worried as to her nephew's whereabouts as the lists of prisoners were published. She said that Camp No. 5 was nearly devoid of American POWs, to her knowledge, when she heard the welcome news of her nephew's release.

The first word of Pfc. Stewart's release came at mighnight when Roy Cave, 137 Mullin Avenue Luke, who heard the news over Station WGY, Schenectady, N. Y., Fifteen minutes later the soldier's mother telephoned from Cincinnati. Mrs. Freeman said that she notified Donald's brother, Harry, of Harrison Street, Piedmont, who is in ill health.

At 1 a. m. Mrs. Freeman heard Pfc. Stewart's name given by an NBC announcer among a list of other American POWs released. Mrs. Freeman then was notified officially by the Department of Defense this morning by telegram of her nephew's release.

Mrs. Freeman, who is overjoyed at her nephew's release, disclosed that two of Donald's relatives were killed in World War II. An uncle, James Aubrey Stewart, was killed in the Battle of the Bulge while a cousin, Robert C. Stewart, was killed accidentally shortly after the war ended.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT STARTS—Surveyors are shown at work locating the center line on a sweeping curve of the Vale Summit Road in the one-mile strip between Miller and Midland which has not yet been improved. Two sections of the road have been altered and resurfaced since the $1,000,000 project was started several years ago. The first phase was from Clarysville to Vale Summit. Then came the stretch from Vale Summit to Miller. State Roads Commission officials report that the Miller-to-Midland job will not require major rebuilding because the road is considered in fairly good condition.

LAST DAY LYRIC NITE ONLY

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Marilyn Monroe gets Mitzi Gaynor as her team-mate in "Pink Tights." Marilyn will sing again and Mitzi will dance and do her usual antics.

Mitzi now admits that she'll marry Jack Bean, but she doesn't say when. He's her only escort these days and she seems much happier than she has in a long time and just like the youngster of several years ago.

Gwen O'Connor called to say she is not taking a dog-in-the-manger attitude "holding on to" Don although she has divorced him.

"Even though our marriage is ended, I want to remain friends with Donald always," Gwen told me. "We both love our little girl and it is much better that we continue to see one another on a friendly basis for her sake."

I liked Gwen's honest attitude about Donald's dating Marilyn Erskine. "They see each other a lot," she said. "I'm not saying I'm crazy about it—I mean, Don getting really serious. But he is free now to go around with whom he pleases."

Lucille Ball and I celebrated our mutual birthdays (August 6) at the Del Mar racetrack—and had a ball, if you'll excuse the pun.

The fifth race was run in my honor and I was in the winner's circle to congratulate the winning jockey and nag.

Desi Arnaz planned a big surprise cocktail party for Lucy in the Turf Club immediately following the last race and believe me she was surprised when over 100 guests, including the Pat O'Briens and Dr. and Mrs. Mark Rabwin, broke out into lusty "happy birthdays" to us both.

Haymes' troubles will not affect the citizenship of his and Joanne's three children—all born in this country and all sturdy little citizens of the USA.

Not only is Anthony Quinn up to his eyebrows taking care of three of his four children and working in "The Odyssey" at the same time—he has still another movie job coming up in Rome.

He'll be the man between Linda Darnell and Valentina Cortesa in "Unfaithful Women," directed and produced by Linda's Italian admirer, Guiseppe Amato.

Tony took the three older Quinn children back to Italy with him when his wife, Katherine De Mille, was ill in Hollywood.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The few days Aly Khan was incognito at the Carlton Hotel in New York, he was seen more than once with a pretty blonde. Not Gene Tierney. Aly should be in Saratoga by now buying thoroughbreds.

Marlene Dietrich is in New York and it's her daughter, Maria, and her son-in-law, Bill Riva, who are stuck in Tel Aviv after a TV company ran out of dough. Marlene is bailing them out, meanwhile preparing her night club act for Las Vegas.

When Peggy Lee opens Tuesday at the Sahara Hotel, Brad Dexter will be there, silencing some whispers about this marriage.

Harry Wismer, sportscaster and star of "Wonderful City" show, is throwing his hat in the political ring. He'll run for senator of his home state, Michigan.

A witty letter from London from Boris Karloff denying that Mrs. Karloff has sued for divorce. "To the contrary, we have just returned from a motor trip through France, Switzerland and Italy, a little tired and dusty to be sure, but not to the extent of dusting each other off."

Frances Bergen (pretty wife of Edgar) gets a comedy role with Greer Garson in "Miss Baker's Dozen." Hope Frances gets a chance to sing. You should have heard her dueting with Jane Wyman at a recent party.

Jeanne Crain walked into Ciro's wearing one of the Dior-dictated short skirts, barely below her knees, and the candid camera boys had a field day. Personally, I hope other glamor girls don't follow Jeanne's example— it's an ugly style.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

If you want the leading man in your life to take special note of how lovely you look this fall in your new tulip-silhouetted costume, there's a special secret to learn. It's the glide walk, the fluid walk, that is so important a factor in every top flight model's work and art.

Now here's why the glide walk is so important to the tulip silhouette. A great part of the effectiveness of this style depends on the long-stemmed look that is due to the slim, columnar skirt. Unless you walk with a beautiful gliding motion, you break the slimness and smoothness of the skirt line, destroying much of the fashion's charm.

But any woman can master a beautiful walk and should. It will be one of her major assets through life.

Glide Walking

Literally and figuratively, everything in the glide walk hinges on your hip joint. Each step starts from the hip joint. You lift your foot, not from the ankle, but from the hip and with as little an assist as possible from your knee.

Standing in your very best posture, pointing your toes straight ahead, take a step no longer than your foot and make sure that your step is initiated from your hip joint. You'll immediately feel a gliding sense that no other manner of walking can give you. Furthermore, when you walk in this manner, you are forced to better posture immediately. To carry out the step, your pelvis must be tilted, so that your hips are sure to be under you as Nature intended them to be. When this is true, you will have no "S" curve to your back. When your back is correctly aligned and your hips are under you, your abdominal muscles naturally contract, smoothing your stomach. So you see how great are the benefits you can attain, just through learning how to walk!

Free Hip Motion

To increase your freedom in glide walking, every morning place your hand on your left hip joint, relax your knee and ankle and raise your leg high. Swing it forward and backward, hard and high. Concentrate on the pivotal motion of your hip joint. Then give your right leg the benefit of the same treatment.

Do this each morning for the next couple of weeks and you'll soon find yourself getting a thrill out of walking. Not only that, like the models, you will "walk in beauty." Then, in your new fall costume, how lovely you will be to see!

Rosenmerkle Fighting Extradition To County

Harold J. Rosenmerkle, this city, who is being held in Willoughby, Ohio, on a charge of embezzlement of $1,200 from the Dapper Dan Club of Allegany County, Thursday night decided to fight extradition to this county, according to State Trooper William F. Baker, criminal investigator at the LaVale Barracks.

Trooper Baker said that Rosenmerkle had retained counsel in the Ohio city and a writ of habeas corpus was obtained. A hearing was held yesterday morning and Rosenmerkle was ordered held under bond.

The state's attorney's office will institute extradition proceedings through the office of Gov. McKeldin in order to have Rosenmerkle brought back here for prosecution.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

MEASURE, NOT A GUESS

YOU are not guessing, but measuring, when you gauge the strength of your partner's hand in one type of situation. That is when he, after passing instead of opening the bidding, takes extreme action on his next turn. That action may take the form of a cue-bid in the opponents' suit, a redouble after an opponent's takeout double of your bid or a jump of a new suit at one level higher than necessary. In any of those cases, he shows a hand just below a sound opening bid.

	♠ 7 6 5 ♥ K Q J ♦ J 10 9 5 2 ♣ Q 6
♠ A 8 4 ♥ 5 4 ♦ Q 6 4 3 ♣ A K 7 3	N W E S	♠ Q J 10 ♥ 9 3 2 ♦ A 7 ♣ J 10 9 8 4
	♠ K 9 3 2 ♥ A 10 8 7 6 ♦ K 8 ♣ 5 2

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Dbl.
Rdbl.	2 ♣	Pass	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♥	3 ♣
3 ♥	4 ♣	4 ♥	Dbl.

Strong as North's redouble sounded the first time, it could not possibly have proclaimed a hand as good as an opening bid, since North had passed on his first turn. That should have warned South about the limited nature of his partner's hand, especially since vulnerable opponents had shown by their actions that they positively had pretty good material.

In 4-Hearts, South had to suffer while the defenders took six tricks in a row with the club K and A, diamond A, spade Q to the K and A, spade 10 and J. He was therefore down three tricks, costing 500 points.

South raged at North for having redoubled without a much stronger hand, not thinking for the moment about the fact that North's hand was definitely limited by his first pass. He tried to say North should never redouble over the opponent's takeout double except with at least two and a half or three defensive tricks. Common sense, however, would show him North couldn't possibly have that after passing. South was the culprit, for bidding 4-Hearts when his partner had failed to do so, as he had no surplus values for such a call over what he had already shown.

Your Weekend Question

How can use of the Rule-of-eleven tell the partner of the opening leader when not to play his highest card of the chosen suit, if a clear-cut fourth-best card of it had been led against a 3-No Trump contract?

Fifty years after they were cached by Robert E. Peary, still legible records and a piece of an American flag were recovered by Canadian scientists from a pile of stones atop an 1,800-foot peak overlooking the bleak shore of Ellesmere island at Cape Columbia, northernmost land in North America.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

P I J V B M W D G M W M C C C S L G G A I V G M E I V M D S L W P I J V A I V U M E I O M J C D I B M W D G M W M C C — C S L T M C - K M L V M.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: HE HUSBANDS BEST HIS LIFE THAT FREELY GIVES IT FOR THE PUBLIC GOOD—QUARLES.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

P I J V B M W D G M W M C C C S L G G A I V G M E I V M D S L W P I J V A I V U M E I O M J C D I B M W D G M W M C C — C S L T M C - K M L V M.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: HE HUSBANDS BEST HIS LIFE THAT FREELY GIVES IT FOR THE PUBLIC GOOD—QUARLES.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION REGARDING THE DISTRIBUTION OF THE TRUST CREATED FOR THE BENEFIT OF LYDIA H. HITCHCOCK

The object and purpose of the petition filed in these proceedings by The Liberty Trust Company, Substituted Trustee, on July 23", 1953, is to determine the persons entitled to receive the corpus of approximately $6,000.00 and accumulated income of about $1,565.54, now in the possession of said The Liberty Trust Company, of Cumberland, Maryland, as Substituted Trustee, which corpus and income represents the share of the late Mrs. Lydia H. Hitchcock, who died on or about November 4, 1952, in the trust created in 1891 by the will of the late Sarah A. Humbird. The petition alleges that by the aforesaid will of said Sarah A. Humbird said Testatrix gave each of her six children, namely, John J. Humbird, Mrs. Sarah Swartzwelder, Mrs. Susan J. Morris, Mrs. Anna Mary DeVries, Jacob B. Humbird, and Mrs. Lydia H. Hitchcock, a one-sixth life interest in the aforesaid trust of the residue of her estate, made certain special provisions in the cases of said John J. Humbird and Mrs. Susan J. Morris, and, subject to such special provisions, provided that on the death of each child his or her one-sixth interest should go absolutely to his or her children and grandchildren, and in the absence of any child or grandchild, should go to the other beneficiaries of the trust; that all of said six children of said Testatrix, except Mrs. Lydia H. Hitchcock, died prior to 1950, most of them having died many years prior thereto, and their respective shares of said trust have heretofore been distributed in these proceedings to those entitled to such shares, so that the only remaining part of said trust is the share or interest of the said Mrs. Lydia H. Hitchcock, and it is now the duty of said Substituted Trustee to distribute such share. Said petition also recites that every effort has been made to determine those who are or may claim to be entitled to share in said trust estate, and that apparently these are:

RESIDING IN MARYLAND:

Eleanor C. Johnston, 328 Fayette Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

Mrs. Lydia H. Sturtevant, 330 Cumberland Street, Cumberland, Md.

Maude Parker Conley, 122 South Liberty Street, Cumberland, Md.

John T. Conley, 122 South Liberty Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

William DeVries, LaVale, Cumberland, Maryland.

Mrs. Louise Humbird Hamilton, 203 Mary Street, Cumberland, Md.

Mrs. A. E. (Mary Shearer) Henze, 407 Surrey Avenue, Chevy Chase, Md.

NON-RESIDENTS OF MARYLAND:

Mrs. Sarah H. Swartzwelder, 3216 Versailles Avenue, McKeesport, Pennsylvania.

William P. Conley, 1862 Ontario Place, Northwest, Washington, D. C.

Edward A. Conley and David F. Conley, 1358 Broad Street, Augusta, Georgia.

Vere Hobart and Donald Bayne Hobart, 371 Wadsworth Avenue, New York City.

Mrs. Clarence H. (Virginia) Osborne, Russell, Kentucky.

William DeVries Millholland, P. O. Box 1027, Charlottesville, Virginia.

Mrs. Ivan Selvage, Box A-39, 377 East Main Street, Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Robert (Marie) Clark, Louisa, Virginia.

Mrs. John K. Millholland, Jr., Box 275, Louisa, Virginia.

John K. Millholland, III, an infant about 19 years of age, now serving in the United States Army.

Mrs. Rosann Collins, Route 2, Bur-Wood, Romulus, New York.

Mrs. Blaine Nichols, 4876 Thirteenth Street, Southwest, Canton, Ohio.

Roberta Humbird, 418 Sherman Drive, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Mrs. George B. (Lyda) Tupper, 5754 North Kenmore Avenue, Chicago 40, Illinois.

Mrs. Douglas H. (Mary) Harnish, 246 Carr Avenue, Clarksburg, West Virginia.

Miss Genevieve Austin Smith, 235 East Main Street, Clarksburg, West Virginia.

That all the foreging non-residents of Maryland are adults, except the aforesaid John K. Millholland, III.

That Eleanor C. Johnston is apparently entitled to the balance of the accumulated income on hand at the time of the death of the said Lydia H. Hitchcock, after payment of funeral expenses and other unpaid bills, under the terms of the last will and testament of said Lydia H. Hitchcock.

That there may possibly be other persons, unknown to the Trustee, who might be entitled to share in the trust estate, or whose rights may be affected by the distribution thereof; and that the Trustee is entitled to have notice given to such unknown persons under the provisions of Section 242 of Article 16 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, 1951 Edition, of the proposed distribution of such trust; also to an order of publication against all the known non-resident defendants.

It is, therefore, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, this 23" day of July, 1953, that The Liberty Trust Company, Substituted Trustee herein, shall cause a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of three successive weeks before the 15" day of August, 1953, and thereby give notice to any and all persons, other than those named above, who have or claim to have an interest in the corpus or accumulated income of the said trust estate, that they shall appear in these proceedings, in person or by solicitor, and file their claims herein on or before the 26" day of October, 1953; and it is further ordered that, by the publication as above ordered, all of the above named non-residents are hereby given notice of the object and substance of the relief sought by petitioner herein, and are warned to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 3rd day of September, 1953, and show cause, if any they have, why the relief prayed for by petitioner should not be granted, and why a decree should not be passed distributing the corpus and accumulated income to such persons and in such proportions as shall be decreed by this Court.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this Order of Publication shall be served upon all resident interested parties (in lieu of a copy of the petition) at the time they are summoned to appear herein, and that the Trustee mail a copy of this order to all non-resident defendants.

It is further ordered that all parties named in said petition are hereby made parties to this proceeding.

GEORGE HENDERSON,
Judge.

Market Has Typical, Quiet End Of The Week Decline

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP) — The stock market declined today in a quiet typical end-of-the-week manner.

Feature of the day was the way that so many individual issues were able to advance against the trend.

In fact, there were more gainers than losers while the averages were off. Price changes went to between 1 and 2 points either way.

Some of the better acting areas were in the oils, motion pictures, chemicals, utilities, and a lengthy list of individual stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 30 cents at $109.10. It was up 40 cents yesterday.

A loss of 50 cents in the industrial component and 40 cents in the rails far overshadowed the 10-cent gain in the utilities.

The list narrowed down to 1,045 individual issues as compared with 1,092 issues on the tape yesterday.

The extent of the market's buoyancy was shown by the fact that 398 issues advanced and 353 declined. There were 18 new highs and 10 new lows for the year recorded during the day.

The most spectacular high was reached by Superior Oil of California with a gain of 30 points at 635. The stock has been strong in recent days but there was no ready explanation for the rise either in Wall Street or at the Los Angeles headquarters of the company.

Higher stocks included Southern Railway, Cities Service, Eastern Air Lines, 20th Century-Fox, Columbia Pictures, American Telephone, Du Pont, American Tobacco, Carrier Corp., General Dynamics, and Radio Corp.

Lower were Pennsylvania Railroad, Union Oil of California, Texas Co., Paramount Pictures,

ORDER OF PUBLICATION REGARDING THE DISTRIBUTION OF THE TRUST CREATED FOR THE BENEFIT OF LYDIA H. HITCHCOCK

The object and purpose of the petition filed in these proceedings by The Liberty Trust Company, Substituted Trustee, on July 23", 1953, is to determine the persons entitled to receive the corpus of approximately $6,000.00 and accumulated income of about $1,565.54, now in the possession of said The Liberty Trust Company, of Cumberland, Maryland, as Substituted Trustee, which corpus and income represents the share of the late Mrs. Lydia H. Hitchcock, who died on or about November 4, 1952, in the trust created in 1891 by the will of the late Sarah A. Humbird. The petition alleges that by the aforesaid will of said Sarah A. Humbird said Testatrix gave each of her six children, namely, John J. Humbird, Mrs. Sarah Swartzwelder, Mrs. Susan J. Morris, Mrs. Anna Mary DeVries, Jacob B. Humbird, and Mrs. Lydia H. Hitchcock, a one-sixth life interest in the aforesaid trust of the residue of her estate, made certain special provisions in the cases of said John J. Humbird and Mrs. Susan J. Morris, and, subject to such special provisions, provided that on the death of each child his or her one-sixth interest should go absolutely to his or her children and grandchildren, and in the absence of any child or grandchild, should go to the other beneficiaries of the trust; that all of said six children of said Testatrix, except Mrs. Lydia H. Hitchcock, died prior to 1950, most of them having died many years prior thereto, and their respective shares of said trust have heretofore been distributed in these proceedings to those entitled to such shares, so that the only remaining part of said trust is the share or interest of the said Mrs. Lydia H. Hitchcock, and it is now the duty of said Substituted Trustee to distribute such share. Said petition also recites that every effort has been made to determine those who are or may claim to be entitled to share in said trust estate, and that apparently these are:

RESIDING IN MARYLAND:

Eleanor C. Johnston, 328 Fayette Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

Mrs. Lydia H. Sturtevant, 330 Cumberland Street, Cumberland, Md.

Maude Parker Conley, 122 South Liberty Street, Cumberland, Md.

John T. Conley, 122 South Liberty Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

William DeVries, LaVale, Cumberland, Maryland.

Mrs. Louise Humbird Hamilton, 203 Mary Street, Cumberland, Md.

Mrs. A. E. (Mary Shearer) Henze, 407 Surrey Avenue, Chevy Chase, Md.

That all of the foregoing residents of Maryland are adults.

Karen McCreery, an infant now about five years old, who resides with her father, Frank McCreery, at 205 Springdale Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

NON-RESIDENTS OF MARYLAND:

Mrs. Sarah H. Swartzwelder, 3216 Versailles Avenue, McKeesport, Pennsylvania.

William P. Conley, 1862 Ontario Place, Northwest, Washington, D. C.

Edward A. Conley and David F. Conley, 1358 Broad Street, Augusta, Georgia.

Vere Hobart and Donald Bayne Hobart, 371 Wadsworth Avenue, New York City.

Mrs. Clarence H. (Virginia) Osborne, Russell, Kentucky.

William DeVries Millholland, P. O. Box 1027, Charlottesville, Virginia.

Mrs. Ivan Selvage, Box A-39, 377 East Main Street, Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Robert (Marie) Clark, Louisa, Virginia.

Mrs. John K. Millholland, Jr., Box 275, Louisa, Virginia.

John K. Millholland, III, an infant about 19 years of age, now serving in the United States Army.

Mrs. Rosann Collins, Route 2, Bur-Wood, Romulus, New York.

Mrs. Blaine Nichols, 4876 Thirteenth Street, Southwest, Canton, Ohio.

Roberta Humbird, 418 Sherman Drive, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Mrs. George B. (Lyda) Tupper, 8754 North Kenmore Avenue, Chicago 40, Illinois.

Mrs. Douglas H. (Mary) Harnish, 246 Carr Avenue, Clarksburg, West Virginia.

That all the foregoing non-residents of Maryland are adults, except the aforesaid John K. Millholland, III.

That Eleanor C. Johnston is apparently entitled to the balance of the accumulated income on hand at the time of the death of the said Lydia H. Hitchcock, after payment of funeral expenses and other unpaid bills, under the terms of the last will and testament of said Lydia H. Hitchcock.

That there may possibly be other persons, unknown to the Trustee, who might be entitled to share in the trust estate, or whose rights may be affected by the distribution thereof; and that the Trustee is entitled to have notice given to such unknown persons under the provisions of Section 242 of Article 16 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, 1951 Edition, of the proposed distribution of such trust; also to an order of publication against all the known non-resident defendants.

It is, therefore, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, this 23" day of July, 1953, that The Liberty Trust Company, Substituted Trustee herein, shall cause a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of three successive weeks before the 15" day of August, 1953, and thereby give notice to any and all persons, other than those named above, who have or claim to have an interest in the corpus or accumulated income of the said trust estate, that they shall appear in these proceedings, in person or by solicitor, and file their claims herein on or before the 26" day of October, 1953; and it is further ordered that, by the publication as above ordered, all of the above named non-residents are hereby given notice of the object and substance of the relief sought by petitioner herein, and are warned to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 3rd day of September, 1953, and show cause, if any they have, why the relief prayed for by petitioner should not be granted, and why a decree should not be passed distributing the corpus and accumulated income to such persons and in such proportions as shall be decreed by this Court.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this Order of Publication shall be served upon all resident interested parties (in lieu of a copy of the petition) at the time they are summoned to appear herein, and that the Trustee mail a copy of this order to all non-resident defendants.

It is further ordered that all parties named in said petition are hereby made parties to this proceeding.

GEORGE HENDERSON,
Judge.

Market Has Typical, Quiet End Of The Week Decline

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP) — The stock market declined today in a quiet typical end-of-the-week manner.

Feature of the day was the way that so many individual issues were able to advance against the trend.

In fact, there were more gainers than losers while the averages were off. Price changes went to between 1 and 2 points either way.

Some of the better acting areas were in the oils, motion pictures, chemicals, utilities, and a lengthy list of individual stocks.

Good earnings reports and other favorable corporate developments were the main cause of the buoyancy.

Mostly on the declining side were railroads, steels, motors, coppers and aircrafts.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 30 cents at $109.10. It was up 40 cents yesterday.

A loss of 50 cents in the industrial component and 40 cents in the rails far overshadowed the 10-cent gain in the utilities.

The list narrowed down to 1,045 individual issues as compared with 1,092 issues on the tape yesterday.

The extent of the market's buoyancy was shown by the fact that 398 issues advanced and 353 declined. There were 18 new highs and 10 new lows for the year recorded during the day.

The most spectacular high was reached by Superior Oil of California with a gain of 30 points at 635. The stock has been strong in recent days but there was no ready explanation for the rise either in Wall Street or at the Los Angeles headquarters of the company.

Higher stocks included Southern Railway, Cities Service, Eastern Air L

Baltimore Ave. Repairs Will Be Started Monday

Damaged Section Of Water Line Replaced

Street Department crews worked last night to complete repairs to sewer lines ruptured when a 24-inch water main burst early Wednesday at Baltimore Avenue and Decatur Street.

Workmen stayed on the job overtime in order to get the lines patched up before another heavy rain could pour in more water and cause further damage.

Street Superintendent Andrew W. Heller said he hoped to have repairs finished so that one-way traffic on Baltimore Avenue could be resumed today.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said sterilization of the repaired line will begin Monday in accordance with recommendations of the Maryland State Board of Health.

The system provides that 50 parts chlorine be added to each million gallons of water in the line. It must remain dormant for at least 24 hours before water is tested at the extremities of the line near the damaged section.

The tests must show five parts chlorine per million gallons of water, or the sterilization process must be repeated. The line will be back in service after sterilization is completed.

Heller said all paving work is expected to be completed by the end of next week so that traffic using busy U. S. Route 40 east can get back to normal.

NEW AND OLD — The new Lincoln Elementary School being constructed for use by Frostburg's Negro children is shown in the upper picture. The old building which must be removed to make room for expansion of Frostburg State Teachers College is shown in the lower picture. The new edifice is located near Frostburg's old baseball park southeast of Park Avenue. Constructed of brick, it will contain a large classroom that also can be used as an auditorium; rest rooms, separate cloak rooms and a large furnace room, all on one floor. It is accessible from Park Avenue by the "Snyder Washington Lane." The old building now is being used as an office by contractors who are erecting the new auditorium-gymnasium building for the college. It will be razed later to make room for a plaza in front of the new building. Miss Kathleen Cooper will continue to serve as teacher and principal of the new Lincoln School.

42,068 County Voters Counted On Revised List

Deceased Citizens Stricken From Books

During July Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar, and C. William McDermott, Democrat registrar, struck off 35 deceased voters and added nine new registrants for a net loss of 26 voters. Three citizens also came to the board office in the Court House basement last month to change their political affiliation, all from Democrats to Republicans.

28 Change Addresses

Twenty-eight other voters notified the registrars in July of address changes which moved them into a new election district or precinct.

The 42,068 voters include 41,576 white and 492 colored. Politically, there are 23,595 Republicans, 16,188 Democrats, 208 independents who declined to state party preference, 30 Socialists and 47 members of other parties.

Under each classification there are more men registered than women. The Republicans include 12,225 men and 11,370 women, the Democrats 9,460 men and 8,728 women, the independents 165 men and 43 women, the Socialists 20 men and 10 women and those of other parties 28 men and 19 women.

35 Stricken Off

Among the 35 deceased voters whose names were stricken from the poll books were 21 Republicans (14 white men, six white women and one colored woman), and 14 Democrats (10 white men and four white women.)

Two white men and one white woman changed political parties last month. The nine new registrants, all white, included six Republicans (four men and two women) and three Democrats (one man and two women.)

Meanwhile, board workers are continuing to address more voters' identification cards which will be mailed out to all of the registered voters.

Westernport's Water Supply Will Be Probed

Hyde's Resolution Gains Endorsement

Progress has been made by Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde in his efforts to get improvement in the quality of Westernport water.

Rep. Hyde has written Mayor Okey E. Michael that the House Public Works Committee has unanimously approved his resolution to review the reports on the Potomac River and tributaries with a view to determining whether any modification of the Savage River Dam and reservoir can be made to improve the water supply for Westernport.

Mayor Michael recalled that the town's dam is located above the Savage River Dam. When the larger dam was opened the town's dam was submerged 40 feet below the water level.

An agreement reached before the town's dam was placed out of commission assures Westernport of a supply of water from the Savage River Dam. Mayor Michael said that the town has been getting plenty of water since the dam was placed in operation but the quality has been poor.

Decaying vegetable matter above the dam has been blamed for the poor quality, Michael added. This summer the quality has been better than it was a year ago. The quality is at its worst in September when the dam is at its lowest level.

Michael hopes that Rep. Hyde's efforts will assure Westernport of an improved water supply.

Young Man's Will Admitted To Probate

The will of Merl Newton Hivick, 34-year-old Cresap Park man, who died July 31, was admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

His wife, Mrs. Eleanor M. S. Hivick, qualified as executrix of the estate under a $300 bond. She was left all of his property, personal and real estate. The will also provided that upon her death the remaining estate should be divided equally between their two small daughters, Carolyn Ann Hivick, 7, and Rita May Hivick, 2. The will was dated June 12.

The Weather

Yesterday certainly wasn't ideal for anyone in search of a suntan and overcast skies and the drizzling rains were discouraging to those spending the week at camp. One got a feeling of fall weather setting in early this year as the weatherman forgot it was summer time. The high temperature as recorded at Constitution Park yesterday was 71 degrees with a low reading of 65 degrees. At 8:10 p. m. the temperature was 69 degrees and the humidity at 6 p. m. was 86 per cent. Forecast for today is mostly cloudy with a few scattered showers and thunderstorms promised for the area. Residents can expect warmer and more humid weather with the temperature expected to climb into the 80's.

Ohio, America's 'New' State, Featured In Library Display

By ALBERT D. DARBY

Ohio, the state which was just admitted to the union by a resolution of Congress, is featured in the current historical exhibit at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

The Buckeye State, as it is best known for the trees which once covered its hills and plains, became the 17th star in the American flag March 1, 1803—150 years ago. In reenactment of that historic date costumed horsemen passed through Cumberland early in March on a trip from Chillicothe, once the capital of Ohio, to Washington.

It was found this year that not all of the legal requirements were complied with in 1803 when Ohio was admitted to the union. As a consequence, the state's delegation in Congress introduced a resolution, retroactive to 1803, which was approved in the closing days on the just-ended session.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian at the Cumberland Free Public Library, has compiled much data about Ohio and its accomplishments.

Fifth In Population

The first permanent white settlement in what is now Ohio was established by General Rufus Putnam, a member of Washington's staff, and 48 men of the Second Ohio Land Company. They founded Marietta in 1788 and built a fort, "Campus Martius," for protection against the Indians.

Many Revolutionary soldiers, paid off with western land grants, settled on Ohio's fertile soil. As early as 1793, however, Ohio began its industrial career and today its manufactured products are twice as valuable as its farm and mineral products combined.

Nationally, it ranks fifth in manufactures and sixth in value of its farm crops. Iron and steel, rubber goods, motor vehicles and parts, machine tools, paper and glass are among the leading products. Because of its industrial development two-thirds of its people are urban dwellers.

Rubber Capital

Akron, where in 1870 B. F. Goodrich began to manufacture fire hose and other rubber articles, is known as the "Rubber Capital of the World" and supplies about half of the automobile tires.

Ohio's largest city is Cleveland, which is seventh in the entire United States. Other large cities include Cincinnati, Columbus, the state capital; Toledo, Dayton, Youngstown and Canton.

The Buckeye State has outstanding educational resources. They include more than 40 universities and colleges, nine professional and technological schools, the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and 270 successful public library systems. The Cleveland Public Library is world renowned.

List Eight Presidents

Eight Presidents of the United States are among the many famous men of Ohio. They include William Henry Harrison, Ulysses S. Grant, Rutherford B. Hayes, Benjamin Harrison, James A. Garfield, William McKinley, William Howard Taft and Warren G. Harding. Others identified with Ohio history include Pontiac and Tecumseh, the Indian chieftains; William T. Sherman and Phil Sheridan, who like Grant were Civil War generals; Thomas A. Edison, Wilbur and Orville Wright and Charles F. Kettering, inventors; Hiram Powers, George Bellows, Howard Chandler Christy and Coles Phillips, artists; William Dean Howells, Alice and Phoebe Cary, Paul Lawrence Dunbar and James Thurber, authors, and William H. McGuffey and Horace Mann, pioneers in education.

The Cumberland Free Public Library owns and recommends a number of books dealing with the Buckeye State, among them "This Is Ohio" by Grace G. Izant, published this year. Others are "Early Days In Ohio" by F. M. Everson and E. L. Power, "Lake Erie" by Harlan Hatcher and "Ohio Guide" an American Writers Guide.

Boy, 5, Gets Police Escort After Vanishing

A five-year-old South End boy who made an unscheduled solo tour of his neighborhood was returned to home base early last night, with an assist from City Police.

Garry Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Miller, 230 Mary Street, disappeared shortly before 6 p. m. Police were asked to look for him.

Less than an hour later, while the boy's family was searching the neighborhood for him, a Virginia Avenue woman telephoned Police Headquarters to say Garry was at her home, three blocks away from his own.

Officer John Chaney picked up the young traveler and escorted him home. Police said the boy apparently had gone off to visit relatives in the area.

Entomologist Tells How To Control Ants

They come from entomologist T. L. Bissel, University of Maryland Extension Service. He says the first step is to find the ants' nest, if possible. Then treat it with an insecticide.

Chlordane is the most effective insecticide to use against ants, says Mr. Bissell. If they are nesting in the structure of the house, it may not be possible to reach the nest. Your next best step is to watch the ants to learn the route or trail they follow.

Ants are apt to stay around if there's food for them to feed on, so clean up any food source. It's important too, to keep food in tight containers so it won't attract ants.

Apply Chlordane insecticide solution with a sprayer or a small paint brush to cracks and openings where the ants enter and to nearby surfaces. Likely places are around baseboards, window or door frames, where plumbing or heating pipes pass through the floor, sinks and bathtubs.

The entomologist points out that a single application of chlordane has a long lasting effect and will continue to kill ants for weeks and months.

By applying this long lasting insecticide to the surfaces, you can prevent new infestation after you have ridded your home of the present ones.

Like most insecticides, chlordane requires precautions in use. Keep it away from children, pets foods, dishes or kitchen utensils. If you get chlordane on the skin, wash it off immediately with soap and water.

Soil Conservation Unit Gets Safety Certificate

Robert M. Salter, new chief of the Soil Conservation Service in Washington, has just awarded a safety certificate to the Cumberland Work Unit office of the SCS.

"The Cumberland Work Unit office is credited with a record of continuous operation without a lost-time accident for the period from 1946 through 1952," the certificate reads.

Attorney Says CTL Can Run C&W For Less

Cumberland Transit Lines yesterday told the Public Service Commission it could operate the Cumberland and Westernport Company's runs for "between $60,000 and $70,000 less per year" than a separate company could do the job.

William C. Walsh, counsel for the local bus company, presented those figures in a letter arguing the CTL's case before the commission. The CTL and People's Transit Company both want the C&W franchise. The PSC is holding hearings to determine who should have the franchise.

Pointing out that the C&W has asked for permission to abandon its operation completely, Walsh said the areas served by the C&W routes contain approximately 70,000 of Allegany County's 90,000 residents. The C&W had said it was losing money on the operation.

"Cumberland Transit can take over the C&W operation and operate it for between $60,000 and $70,000 less per year than it can be operated by a separate company," Walsh declared. He said several duplications of costs could be avoided if CTL took over the franchise.

Peoples Transit, consisting of employes of C&W, would need 11 drivers to run the line, Walsh said, while CTL would need only six additional men.

Walsh also asked the PSC to have its traffic and engineering departments study "the schedule and equipment problems" to determine what schedules would be best, and whether the CTL's equipment would be adequate for the operation.

Retired Soldier Plans Seventh Trip Overseas

By LARRY GRECO

Dennis O. Holt, 52, of 223 Harrison Street, a retired U. S. and British Army veteran, will leave Tuesday night for his seventh trip overseas — this time to visit his brothers, sisters and two cousins in Derby, Derbyshire, England.

He is scheduled to leave Wednesday from New York City aboard the Queen Mary and will return here sometime in October. He came to Cumberland in 1902 with his parents when he was only 11 months old.

His only surviving relatives are his brothers, sisters and cousins, who were born in Pittsburgh and are now living in England. To tell of his military career, it will probably be best to start with his first enlistment.

This was in 1919, when Holt had no idea he would be serving in the British Army and later join the occupation forces in Japan and end up in the Korean conflict.

Holt first enlisted for the Transportation Corps in 1919 and served until 1921 when the Army was reduced to meet peace time requirements of World War II treaties. He re-enlisted for the Artillery in 1928, but transferred to the Air Corps and was assigned to Langley Field, Va.

Joined British Army

Prior to discharge in 1939, he completed a two-year tour in the Philippine Islands. After his discharge, Holt crossed the Atlantic to visit his mother, Mrs. Rose Holt, now deceased.

At that time the Germans attacked Poland and war was declared. His initial contribution toward winning the war was machinists work in one of England's factories, but since he had previous military experience, he felt he would be of more value as a serviceman.

He enlisted in January of 1940 in the British Army and went to France in April of that year. In May the Germans invaded Luxemburg, Belgium, Holland and were nearing Paris. Holt's group, the 9th Sherwood Foresters, were retreating toward Dunkirk where the men were throwing everything they had at the enemy. Holt alternated firing a machine-gun and his rifle.

DENNIS O. HOLT

Holt said the valor of the men who served at Dunkirk is well known to the people of Briton, and to them it stands out like Bataan does to every American.

Transferred To U. S. Army

In June, 1940, after a successful rear-guard defense, the Foresters were evacuated to England for a well earned rest and to prepare for the inevitable D-Day. In February of 1943 American troops were arriving in England, and many U. S. citizens who were serving in the British Army transferred to the U. S. forces.

Holt asked for and received assignments with the U. S. Corps of Engineers. In July 1944, he was sent to the 877th Engineer Glider Group as a replacement where he served until July, 1945.

After returning to the United States, he re-enlisted in April, 1948 for the Medical Corps and was assigned to Medical Company, 19th Infantry in Japan. While in Japan, the Korean conflict broke out and he was sent to the front lines as a rifleman in the Infantry.

He returned from Korea to the United States in 1951 and after assignments at various bases here, he was retired last month.

District Scouts To Meet Tuesday

Dry July Receives Blame For Low Milk Production

Cows in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association had their worst milk and butterfat production records so far this year in July and authorities blamed the dry weather which scorched much pasture land as the chief cause.

The report of Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, association supervisors, revealed that the 801 cows tested during July produced an average of only 542 pounds of milk and 22 pounds of butterfat, both lows for 1953. The butterfat percentage of 4.05 tied with March for this year's low in that respect.

High figures for 1953 occurred in May, which was an unseasonably wet month. Then the milk production averaged 752 pounds, butterfat 31 pounds. Best butterfat percentage was June's 4.14.

Last month's champion butterfat producer was Shirley, a grade Guernsey owned by Brinker Brothers, Springfield, W. Va., who had 86 pounds of butterfat in 1,710 pounds of milk. Brinkers also had the fourth best cow, Genevia, another grade Guernsey whose record was 70 pounds of butterfat in 1620 pounds of milk.

Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings had three big producers among the top 10 including No. 28, a grade Holstein who gave 76 pounds of butterfat in 2,360 pounds of milk to place second.

Other dairymen, each with a single cow in the select list, were R. E. Carskadon, Burlington, W. Va.; A. E. and D. W. Light, Pinto; Howard D. Llewellyn, Midland; E. R. Street and R. A. Oster, Bedford Valley, Pa., and Carl Howsare, Bedford Valley, Pa. The top 10 cows included seven Holsteins, three Guernseys and one Jersey.

Baltimore Ave. Repairs Will Be Started Monday

Damaged Section Of Water Line Replaced

Street Department crews worked last night to complete repairs to sewer lines ruptured when a 24-inch water main burst early Wednesday at Baltimore Avenue and Decatur Street.

Workmen stayed on the job overtime in order to get the lines patched up before another heavy rain could pour in more water and cause further damage.

Street Superintendent Andrew W. Heller said he hoped to have repairs finished so that one-way traffic on Baltimore Avenue could be resumed today.

Repaving of a 150-foot strip of Baltimore Avenue, ruined when half a million gallons of water gushed from the broken main, is expected to begin Monday.

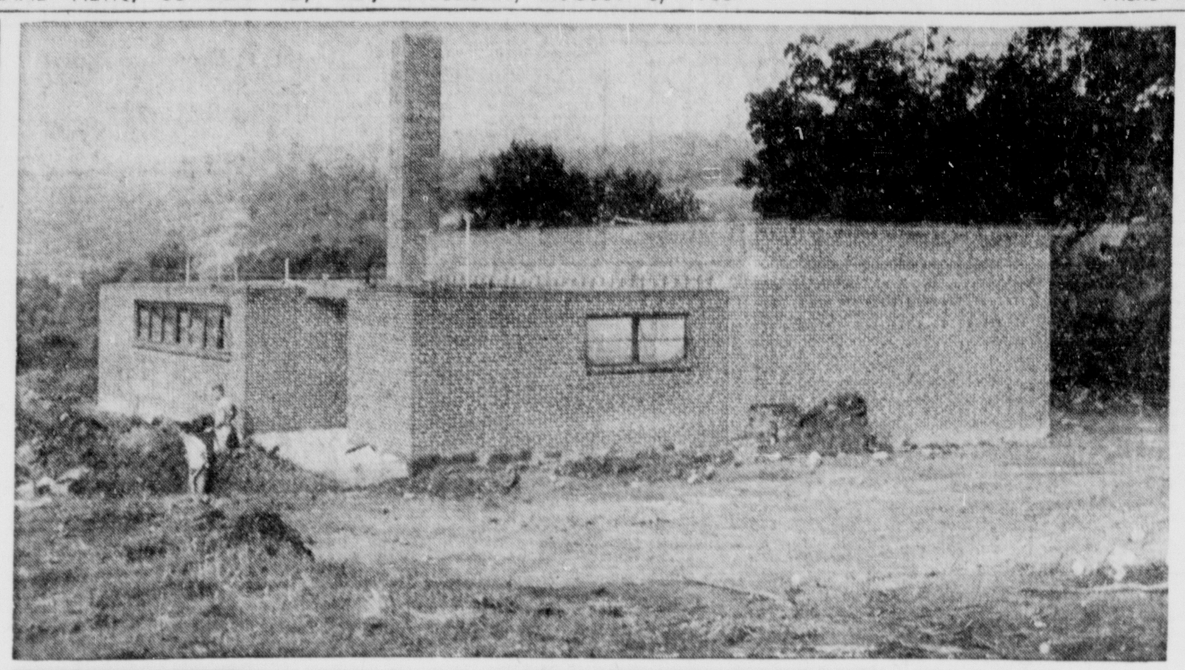

Repairs to the big cast-iron water main were completed yesterday before work on the sewer lines began.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said sterilization of the repaired line will begin Monday in accordance with recommendations of the Maryland State Board of Health.

The system provides that 50 parts chlorine be added to each million gallons of water in the line. It must remain dormant for at least 24 hours before water is tested at the extremities of the line near the damaged section.

The tests must show five parts chlorine per million gallons of water, or the sterilization process must be repeated. The line will be back in service after sterilization is completed.

Heller said all paving work is expected to be completed by the end of next week so that traffic using busy U. S. Route 40 east can get back to normal.

NEW AND OLD — The new Lincoln Elementary School being constructed for use by Frostburg's Negro children is shown in the upper picture. The old building which must be removed to make room for expansion of Frostburg State Teachers College is shown in the lower picture. The new edifice is located near Frostburg's old baseball park southeast of Park Avenue. Constructed of brick, it will contain a large classroom that also can be used as an auditorium; rest rooms, separate cloak rooms and a large furnace room, all on one floor. It is accessible from Park Avenue by the "Snyder Washington Lane." The old building now is being used as an office by contractors who are erecting the new auditorium-gymnasium building for the college. It will be razed later to make room for a plaza in front of the new building. Miss Kathleen Cooper will continue to serve as teacher and principal of the new Lincoln School.

42,068 County Voters Counted On Revised List

Deceased Citizens Stricken From Books

Allegany County's registered voters numbered 42,068 at the end of July, according to the revised records of the Board of Election Supervisors.

During July Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar, and C. William McDermott, Democrat registrar, struck off 35 deceased voters and added nine new registrants for a net loss of 26 voters. Three citizens also came to the board office in the Court House basement last month to change their political affiliation, all from Democrats to Republicans.

28 Change Addresses

Twenty-eight other voters notified the registrars in July of address changes which moved them into a new election district or precinct.

The 42,068 voters include 41,576 white and 492 colored. Politically, there are 23,595 Republicans, 18,188 Democrats, 208 independents who declined to state party preference, 30 Socialists and 47 members of other parties.

Under each classification there are more men registered than women. The Republicans include 12,225 men and 11,370 women, the Democrats 9,460 men and 8,728 women, the independents 165 men and 43 women, the Socialists 20 men and 10 women and those of other parties 28 men and 19 women.

35 Stricken Off

Among the 35 deceased voters whose names were stricken from the poll books were 21 Republicans (14 white men, six white women and one colored woman), and 14 Democrats (10 white men and four white women.)

Two white men and one white woman changed political parties last month. The nine new registrants, all white, included six Republicans (four men and two women) and three Democrats (one man and two women.)

Meanwhile, board workers are continuing to address more voters' identification cards which will be mailed out to all of the registered voters.

Westernport's Water Supply Will Be Probed

Hyde's Resolution Gains Endorsement

Progress has been made by Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde in his efforts to get improvement in the quality of Westernport water.

Rep. Hyde has written Mayor Okey E. Michael that the House Public Works Committee has unanimously approved his resolution to review the reports on the Potomac River and tributaries with a view to determining whether any modification of the Savage River Dam and reservoir can be made to improve the water supply for Westernport.

Mayor Michael recalled that the town's dam is located above the Savage River Dam. When the larger dam was opened the town's dam was submerged 40 feet below the water level.

An agreement reached before the town's dam was placed out of commission assures Westernport of a supply of water from the Savage River Dam. Mayor Michael said that the town has been getting plenty of water since the dam was placed in operation but the quality has been poor.

Decaying vegetable matter above the dam has been blamed for the poor quality, Michael added. This summer the quality has been better than it was a year ago. The quality is at its worst in September when the dam is at its lowest level.

Michael hopes that Rep. Hyde's efforts will assure Westernport of an improved water supply.

Walter S. Davis, president of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, will deliver the principal address Saturday morning, August 15. Speakers at the luncheon meeting winding up the two-day affair will include Robert L. Wadsworth, chief, Planning and Reports Branch, Washington District, Corps of Engineers, and A. L. Ohio, America's 'New' State, Featured In Library Display

By ALBERT D. DARBY

Ohio, the state which was just admitted to the union by a resolution of Congress, is featured in the current historical exhibit at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

The Buckeye State, as it is best known for the trees which once covered its hills and plains, became the 17th star in the American flag March 1, 1803—150 years ago. In reenactment of that historic date costumed horsemen passed through Cumberland early in March on a trip from Chillicothe, once the capital of Ohio, to Washington.

It was found this year that not all of the legal requirements were complied with in 1803 when Ohio was admitted to the union. As a consequence, the state's delegation in Congress introduced a resolution, retroactive to 1803, which was approved in the closing days on the just-ended session.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian at the Cumberland Free Public Library, has compiled much data about Ohio and its accomplishments.

Fifth In Population

Although only 34th in area, Ohio ranks fifth in population, being headed only by New York, California, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

The first permanent white settlement in what is now Ohio was established by General Rufus Putnam, a member of Washington's staff, and 48 men of the Second Ohio Land Company. They founded Marietta in 1788 and built a fort, "Campus Martius," for protection against the Indians.

Many Revolutionary soldiers, paid off with western land grants, settled on Ohio's fertile soil. As early as 1793, however, Ohio began its industrial career and today its manufactured products are twice as valuable as its farm and mineral products combined.

Nationally, it ranks fifth in manufactures and sixth in value of its farm crops. Iron and steel, rubber goods, motor vehicles and parts, machine tools, paper and glass are among the leading products. Because of its industrial development two-thirds of its people are urban dwellers.

Rubber Capital

Akron, where in 1870 B. F. Goodrich began to manufacture fire hose and other rubber articles, is known as the "Rubber Capital of the World" and supplies about half of the automobile tires.

Ohio's largest city is Cleveland, which is seventh in the entire United States. Other large cities include Cincinnati, Columbus, the state capital; Toledo, Dayton, Youngstown and Canton.

The Buckeye State has outstanding educational resources. They include more than 40 universities and colleges, nine professional and technological schools, the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and 270 successful public library systems. The Cleveland Public Library is world renowned.

List Eight Presidents

Eight Presidents of the United States are among the many famous men of Ohio. They include William Henry Harrison, Ulysses S. Grant, Rutherford B. Hayes, Benjamin Harrison, James A. Garfield, William McKinley, William Howard Taft and Warren G. Harding. Others identified with Ohio history include Pontiac and Tecumseh, the Indian chieftains; William T. Sherman and Phil Sheridan, who like Grant were Civil War generals; Thomas A. Edison, Wilbur and Orville Wright and Charles F. Kettering, inventors; Hiram Powers, George Bellows, Howard Chandler Christy and Coles Phillips, artists; William Dean Howells, Alice and Phoebe Cary, Paul Lawrence Dunbar and James Thurber, authors, and William H. McGuffey and Horace Mann, pioneers in education.

The Cumberland Free Public Library owns and recommends a number of books dealing with the Buckeye State, among them "This Is Ohio" by Grace G. Izant, published this year. Others are "Early Days In Ohio" by F. M. Everson and E. L. Power, "Lake Erie" by Harlan Hatcher and "Ohio Guide" an American Writers Guide.

Boy, 5, Gets Police Escort After Vanishing

Retired Soldier Plans Seventh Trip Overseas

Dennis O. Holt, 52, of 223 Harrison Street, a retired U. S. and British Army veteran, will leave Tuesday night for his seventh trip overseas — this time to visit his brothers, sisters and two cousins in Derby, Derbyshire, England.

He is scheduled to leave Wednesday from New York City aboard the Queen Mary and will return here sometime in October. He came to Cumberland in 1902 with his parents when he was only 11 months old.

Joined British Army

Prior to discharge in 1939, he completed a two-year tour in the Philippine Islands. After his discharge, Holt crossed the Atlantic to visit his mother, Mrs. Rose Holt, now deceased.

At that time the Germans attacked Poland and war was declared. His initial contribution toward winning the war was machinists work in one of England's factories, but since he had previous military experience, he felt he would be of more value as a serviceman.

He enlisted in January of 1940 in the British Army and went to France in April of that year. In May the Germans invaded Luxemburg, Belgium, Holland and were nearing Paris. Holt's group, the 9th Sherwood Foresters, were retreating toward Dunkirk where the men were throwing everything they had at the enemy. Holt alternated firing a machine-gun and his rifle.

Holt said the valor of the men who served at Dunkirk is well known to the people of Briton, and to them it stands out like Bataan does to every American.

Transferred To U. S. Army

In June, 1940, after a successful rear-guard defense, the Foresters were evacuated to England for a well earned rest and to prepare for the inevitable D-Day. In February of 1943 American troops were arriving in England, and many U. S. citizens who were serving in the British Army transferred to the U. S. forces.

Holt asked for and received assignments with the U. S. Corps of Engineers. In July 1944, he was sent to the 877th Engineer Glider Group as a replacement where he served until July, 1945.

After returning to the United States, he re-enlisted in April, 1948 for the Medical Corps and was assigned to Medical Company, 19th Infantry in Japan. While in Japan, the Korean conflict broke out and he was sent to the front lines as a rifleman in the Infantry.

He returned from Korea to the United States in 1951 and after assignments at various bases here, he was retired last month.
